'Cracker Jack' Grand Champ

By GLENN KREUSCHER
Farm Editor

An 862-pound hereford steer called "Cracker Jack," owned by Monte Bohmont of Martell, was named grand champion at the Lancaster County fair Thursday. The winner was a home-grown product, having been produced from the family's registered hereford herd.

The trend of producing winners from home-grown products continued with the reserve champion steer going to a shorthorn shown by Louise Otley of Route 3, Lincoln. The animal is from the family's herd. For Miss Otley it was a return to the winner's ranks; she showed the champion at last year's fair.

The champion fat heifer was a hereford shown by Norma Halling of Ceresco and the reserve champion in the heifer division was an angus shown by Glen Ringland of Bennet.

Twenty-five purple ribbons were presented in the dairy show. A total of 167 animals were exhibited. The number receiving purple ribbons represents a record high.

Earl Phillips of Beaver Crossing, nationally recognized dairy judge, termed the event, "outstanding."

The open class poultry show kept pace with the record-making fair, by reporting the largest show ever, 441 birds, or more than twice those exhibited at last year's event.

The champion hen and cock in the standard breeds went to A. W. Sohl of 2215 So. 70th, Lincoln on buff cochin.

Champion bantam hen was a buff cochin belonging to Gayne D. Doolittle of Rt. 8, Lincoln. The champion bantam cock was a white cochin exhibited by Dian Vaughn of 3726 No. 61st.

The highlight of Friday fair events will be the livestock sale at 9:30 a.m. in the 4-H sales arena.

HOUSE OKAYS AID

Senate Sets Rail Action

Washington (AP) — With a nationwide railroad strike looming only a week away, a first legislative step toward preventing or cutting short the walkout was promised for Friday.

The Senate Commerce Committee met twice Thursday. It announced no action but Chairman Warren G. Magnuson, D-Wash., told newsmen the group will vote Friday on a measure which he said probably will provide for "reasonable arbitration" of the dispute, now headed for a strike showdown on Aug. 29.

The House Commerce Committee also has before it proposals to deal with the strike threat but the House leadership has indicated it will let the Senate deal first with this politically prickly problem.

Magnuson indicated he expects the Senate will be able to act on the proposed legislation on Monday.

However, Republican leaders of both chambers expressed doubt that any strike-blocking legislation can be enacted before 12:01 a.m. Aug. 29 — the time when the carriers are scheduled to post job-eliminating work-rules changes which the 5 on-train unions are committed to oppose by an immediate strike.

Sen. Everett M. Dirksen, the GOP Senate leader from Illinois, said at a news conference he doubts that even the Senate could complete action on such complicated legislation by Thursday.

Little Chance
Rep. Charles A. Halleck, R-Ind., the House minority leader, said he sees little chance of speeding up House procedures enough to enact legislation before the deadline.

Thus the threat of a strike which President Kennedy views as an intolerable prospect for the nation's economy again grew deeper.

Up until late Wednesday there was hope that the parties to the 4-year-old work-rules controversy would agree on procedures under which the two key issues—firemen's jobs and train-crew makeup—would be settled by binding arbitration with the other points of dispute to be disposed of in direct negotiations.

Acceptance
Last Friday Secretary of Labor W. Willard Wirtz announced full acceptance by the carriers and conditional acceptance by the unions of his proposal for settlement on these lines, with the arbitration to be carried out by a special board to include two public members.

But a week of intensive talks involving Labor Department officials, union officers and lawyers and carrier executives and attorneys failed to produce such an agreement.

The impasse came on the question of procedures for and timing of the negotiations on the lesser issues. The unions insisted that there be a written agreement on these procedures — ruling out binding arbitration — before the two top issues are arbitrated, the carriers stuck to the Wirtz timetable of arbitration first and then negotiations.

Germany Readies Weather Rockets
Bonn, Germany (AP) — West Germany will begin firing weather rockets from Sardinia later this year, the defense ministry reported Thursday.

A ministry spokesman said the American-made rockets will attain an altitude of 50 miles and are intended to bring back meteorological data. He said Sardinia had been chosen because areas in West Germany are too heavily settled.

Diem's Government Headed For Direct Clash With U.S.

Saigon, Viet Nam (AP) — President Ngo Dinh Diem's government appeared headed Thursday night for a direct diplomatic clash with the United States, its military ally and financial angel, over the lightning crackdown on his Buddhist opponents.

Even as Henry Cabot Lodge arrived in Saigon as the new ambassador of the angered Kennedy administration, communiques indicated the Saigon regime intends to stay on course in combatting the political-religious crisis.

Strong words are expected when Diem, a Roman Catholic, meets the Episcopalian diplomat from Boston's Beacon Hill, who for 8 years was the chief U.S. delegate to the United Nations.

The U.S. State Department has denounced the crackdown and said "the United States deplores repressive actions of this nature."

Among others who deplored

it were Diem's ambassador to Washington, Tran Van Chuong, and Chuong's wife, South Vietnamese observer to the UN. Both resigned.

They are the parents of Mrs. Ngo Dinh Nhu, South Viet Nam's first lady who is the sister-in-law of the bachelor president. A Confucianist, Chuong cabled Diem: "I cannot go on representing a government which ignores my advice and of which I disapprove." His wife, a Buddhist, also tendered her resignation from Washington.

But statements by Diem's regime suggested it is standing pat.

"The government is strongly determined," one communique said, "not to tolerate exploitation of religion for political purposes, turning of pagodas — high places for prayer, meditation and sanctification — into quarters for agitation and propaganda, terrorism and plotting against the security of the state."

The regime noted differences among the hundreds of monks and nuns arrested by troops and police in shot-punctured raids on Buddhist pagodas in the first measures of martial law before dawn Wednesday.

The communique indicated those who pledge cooperation will be released. But it said "those who have actually plotted against the security of the state while the latter is at war" against the communist uprising will remain in custody.

Buddhists have denied any connection with communism throughout their antigovernment campaign, avowedly aimed toward religious freedom and social justice. But another communique called the alleged plotters "yellow-robed Reds."

THE CRITICAL VIEW

Virg Martineau's painting, "Portrait of Leroy," drew critical study from Elizabeth Reed, 2½-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Reed of Red Oak, Iowa, at a sidewalk art show on the Gateway Shopping Center's mall. Elizabeth looks as though she hadn't made up her mind whether to put in a bid for the painting. The show, sponsored by the Lincoln Artists Guild, continues through Saturday and features a wide range of artistic styles. (Star Photo)

Walker Shoves X15 To Altitude Record

Edwards Air Force Base, Calif. (UPI) — Chief space agency pilot Joe Walker gunned the X15 rocket ship to a world aircraft altitude record of more than 66 miles despite some difficulty with radio communications and with a new altitude-predicting device.

The 42-year-old test pilot, an affable quipster, said after he returned to earth he "played the game of flying by the book" but felt he would have gone higher if he had flown as he usually does — more or less "by the seat of his pants."

The flight was programmed for an altitude of 68 miles. The primary purpose, however, was not to set an altitude record but to test the altitude predictor which computes in advance the probable maximum altitude by correlating engine thrust and angle of climb.

"I went strictly by the altitude predictor," said Walker, "but if I had flown my own usual way I think I could have gone 68 miles or even higher."

Space scientists feel the altitude predictor serves its purpose if it is accurate to within 10,000 feet — not a great discrepancy in their eyes at the tremendous altitudes of which the X15 is capable.

In Walker's case it was about 11,000 feet off. Communications difficulties arose when a B52 mother ship was taking the X15 and Walker aloft for release at 45,000 feet.

For some unexplained reason, Walker lost contact with two ground tracking stations — at Beatty, Nev., and here at Edwards.

In a typical understatement, Walker said this was an "out of the ordinary problem."

He explained that the two tracking stations along with a third at Ely, Nev., help guide the mother-ship to its correct position for the air launch of the X15.

Communications were restored just before the launch but the position could have been slightly in error, Walker indicated.

Walker, however, was happy about shattering his own mark of 348,000 feet, or about 65 miles set in the X15 July 19.

The study of telemetry data—expected to take about a week — will determine the exact new figure.

Resume Third Drilling Effort

Hazleton, Pa. (AP) — Drillers pushed ahead early Friday in a third attempt to sink an escape shaft to two trapped miners after initial efforts with a geiger counter failed to show how close a previous hole came to the men.

At the same time a diamond bit began shortly after midnight drilling a three-to-four inch hole toward where a third miner is believed to be in hopes of contacting him.

H. B. Charnbury, state secretary of mines, said he hoped the 12-inch hole toward David Fellin, 58, and Henry Throne, 28, would hit the area where the two are located between 7 a.m., CST, and 10 a.m. Friday.

Rescue worker's began the third 12-inch hole at about 4 p.m. Thursday afternoon. Shortly before midnight, they had reached a distance of 170 feet. The men are 331 feet underground.

The third miner, Louis Bova, 42, has been unheard from since Tuesday night when Fellin reported making contact with him. Bova has been without food since the cave-in August 13 but the other two men have been able to receive supplies through a six-inch lifeline hole.

As the huge rig used in drilling was brought to a halt less than two hours after it began, the geiger counter was lowered into the original 6-inch lifeline hole to Fellin and Throne. At the same time a piece of radioactive cobalt was raised and lowered into another 12-inch hole which missed the trapped men earlier in the day.

Hear Clearly
About 200 people behind restraining ropes 100 feet from the rescue area could hear clearly Fellin's voice methodically reading off figures from the geiger counter.

When he lowered the counter, Fellin said "Hello, clearly."

Apparently, after one hour and a half, nothing much more than background radiation was received on the geiger counter, surface workers indicated. The cobalt, one-half inch in diameter and one inch long, was pushed in a lead package from U.S. Radium Corp. at Bloomsburg, Pa.

Once again the big drill started up and the area was blanketed with fine white dust as compressed air sucked up the powdered rock in the hole.

The men were caught more than 300 feet underground 10 days ago—at 7 a.m. CST Aug. 13.

ter, Gordon Smith, deputy state mines secretary, asked over the communications line if either Fellin or Throne knew how to use a geiger counter.

"Hey, I used one in the army," Throne said.

"Then you teach Davy," Smith directed.

Levin then interrupted the deadly serious two-way conversation.

"What did you do with the brandy they sent down?" Smith asked.

"We put it in storage," Fellin replied.

"I've got any parking tickets," Throne asked.

"If you got any, the governor will take care of them," Elwood Tito, a Hazleton television repairman, answered.

"That's good. Last month I got 10," Throne was heard to say.

Dems Block Slices

... BY GOP

Washington (AP)—The House Thursday night gave verbal approval to President Kennedy's $4.1 billion foreign aid authorization bill. Republican opponents were unable to cut it by one nickel.

However, a final roll call vote was postponed until Friday when a Republican raised a technicality.

The Democratic leadership had no trouble beating down GOP attempts to slash the President's contingency fund, the military assistance program and other sections of the bill.

Sharp Contrast
Their performance during the amending process, which lasted into the evening, contrasted dramatically with Wednesday's showing, when two major Republican limiting amendments were nailed into the bill. An overnight fire drill by the Democratic whip organization kept enough party members on the floor to control the Republican attack.

This authorization bill merely sets a ceiling figure for the foreign aid program. The actual money must be provided later in an appropriation bill, which in recent years has been far below the authorization.

These major amendments, none of them affecting the $4.1 billion authorization total, were approved:

—A postponement of any decision of U. S. aid for a steel mill at Bokaro, India, until next year. Defeated as a much more restrictive permanent ban on any foreign project of $50 million without prior congressional approval.

Ban Added
—A ban on any aid to any countries which ship to Cuba, either by sea or by air. Retained was provision for the President to waive this ban if he determines it is in the national interest.

Accepted by the Democratic leadership at the last minute was an amendment banning help to productive enterprises abroad unless the President determines that comparable enterprises in the United States are operating substantially near capacity.

Indicating the solid administration strength Thursday was the defeat of a move to cut $225 million from the $1.2-billion military assistance section of the bill. This was one of the top targets of the budget-cutting Republicans.

Would Go Along
Rep. Wayne Hays, D-Ohio, told Rep. H. R. Gross, R-Iowa, that he would go along with cutting military assistance if Gross would reduce his proposed cut to $100 million.

Another Republican promptly offered a substitute amendment doing just that. It attracted an unusual mixture of support from about 15 Democrats, including Hays and other northern liberals and several southern conservatives. But the margin was not enough and both the $100 million and the $225 million cuts were easily scuttled.

Thursday's series of amendments included an attempt by Rep. Louis C. Wyman, R-N.H., to eliminate entirely $217 million earmarked for technical assistance, or what was called Point Four.

Best Part
Democrats, from majority leader Carl Albert of Oklahoma on down, argued that this kind of help—exporting American technical know-how—is the best part of the whole foreign-aid package and has done the most good. Their views prevailed in a 123-77 teller vote.

Crash Program To Fight School Dropouts Begun

By BETTY PERSON
Star Staff Writer

A crash program to prevent school dropouts has been undertaken by the State Department of Public Welfare, Director Frank Woods said Thursday.

The Nebraska effort is part of the program sponsored by the Bureau of Family Services and Children's Bureau (under the U.S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare) in which state and local welfare agencies have been asked to join in an all-out push to get youngsters back in school and to keep them there.

Memos have been sent to each of the state's 93 county welfare directors urging that every worker "cooperate very closely" with public schools, vocational schools, social agencies, juvenile courts, churches, service clubs, professional organizations and other volunteer groups, newspapers, radio and TV stations in the back-to-school drive.

Woods said the state department has asked each of the county agencies to report by Sept. 13 on the results of the crash program to that date.

He emphasized, however, that the program cannot and will not stop with the Sept. 13 report.

"This is not something that just happens in September," Woods said, noting that many youngsters may return to school when the fall semester begins, but will drop out as the school year progresses.

"Many of these 16 to 18-year-olds have been working during the summer earning up to $1.50 and $2 an hour, and they may start yearning for that income again," he said.

The problem, Woods said, is to impress upon these youngsters the necessity of obtaining at least a high school degree in order to make any kind of future for themselves under the demands of today's society.

Words Of Praise
The state welfare director had high words of praise for the efforts in this direction which have been undertaken by various labor organizations in the state.

Members of many of the trade unions are working directly with young people telling them of the importance in obtaining a high school education, Woods said, terming it "a wonderful thing."

The director also noted that youngsters who desire to go into the trades can further their education by going to trade schools, if they think they cannot get what they want out of high school.

J. Earle Trabert, chief of the division of information and services under the state department, said plans are under way to have a back-to-school demonstration conference in Douglas County in November.

Douglas County officials have shown a strong interest in the program, he said, because the problem of dropouts is particularly acute in that area.

This is part of a federal program under which federal funds can be used to finance up to 100% of the cost of such projects.

Woods said that while county welfare directors will be contacting families which receive Aid to Dependent Children funds, and foster homes, they also have been urged to broaden their contacts outside of those families receiving assistance.

Is JFK's Program Stuck In Bogs Of Congress?

By STANLEY MEISLER

Washington (AP) — Is President Kennedy's legislative program stuck in the bogs of Congress? Some critics say so. The White House and Democratic leaders say it isn't.

Congress has passed July 31 — the suggested legal date for adjournment — with only a few bills of substance to show for it. This session will last at least until Thanksgiving and perhaps to Christmas, the longest spell since the Korean War Congress of 1950.

"It seems to me that on the basis of the record to date," said Sen. Jacob K. Javits, R-N.Y., in a recent Senate speech, "we are assigning ourselves a unique niche in history as the biggest and longest running slow-motion show to hit Washington in years. And I believe we are in grave danger of seeing ourselves dubbed the 'standstill' congress, or worse."

Most Important Bills

Speaker John W. McCormack of Massachusetts disagrees. "Congress is considering some of the most important bills that have come up in my career in Congress," he said in an interview. "I wish some had been reported out sooner, but the committees are working harder than any in my time, and I am confident that at the end of this Congress, we will have a very fine record."

The record, however, does not look so good to Sen. Joseph S. Clark, D-Pa. "We are so tied up in our red tape," he told the Senate, "so tied up in horse-and-buggy practices, so tied up by procedures which prevent the Senate from using modern methods of business, that, like Ferdinand the Bull, we sit under the tree and smell the flowers while the rest of the world goes by."

Lawrence F. O'Brien, Kennedy's special assistant for congressional relations, said in an interview "we are confident this Congress will enact a substantial portion of the President's legislative program in this session, including the tax bill, civil rights, area redevelopment agency amendments, legislation in the field of education, mental health and mental retardation, as well as many other important items — and the Senate will ratify the nuclear test ban treaty."

Historic Record

"The 88th Congress could well establish an historic record," he said.

How is the Kennedy program doing now? What will its record be at the end of the session?

Let's take a look at statistics.

Senate Republican leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois recently cited a study by Congressional Quarterly. It showed that by July 31 Congress had approved 19 of the Kennedy administration's 403 requests. Congressional Quarterly said this percentage of approval — 4.7% — was a record low.

The survey compared this 1963 rate with other sessions: By July 2, 1962, Congress had approved 7% of Kennedy's requests; by May 5, 1961, Congress had approved 10% of Kennedy's requests; by May 8, 1955, Congress had approved 13.7% of former President Dwight D. Eisenhower's requests.

Major Bills

Congressional quarterly also said that by late July 1961 Congress had sent Kennedy 13 major bills; by late July 1962, 6 major bills; and by late July this year 4 — excise taxes, debt limit, draft, and feed grain bills.

Congress has passed only 3 of 13 major appropriations bills for this fiscal year. But this rate of progress on money bills is not unusual.

At the White House, aides discount these statistics. They say Congressional Quarterly's list of 403 bills includes every request — major or minor — made by an agency of the executive department. The aides say the administration record should stand or fall on its "high priority" bills, which number 35 or so.

Discussions indicate that the White House expects to see at least 19 of these bills approved in some form by Congress before the session ends. These include bills on civil rights, taxes, area redevelopment, education, and foreign aid.

The White House hopes to see other bills approved in 1964. These include measures on mass transit, youth employment, and medical care for the aged.

There is uncertainty about other priority bills. Aides hint the White House is pessimistic about chances until 1964 for bills on a domestic peace corps, a food stamp program, and civil defense shelters.

Record Is Meager

At the moment, however, the administration's record is meager and will only look attractive if Congress does a great deal more in the last part of its long, long session.

There are many theories why Congress is headed for an almost full-year session. Here are some of them:

1. Civil rights and other legislation.

Congress, after several months of meeting, suddenly found that it had to deal with new urgent legislation: Civil rights, a threatened railroad strike, a test ban treaty. This threw the legislative schedule out of line.

In addition, the civil rights legislation, which speaker McCormack calls "one of the fights of the decade," seems to have weakened some Southern Democrats' support for other parts of the Kennedy program. For this reason, Democratic leaders, particularly in the House, are not pushing legislation like youth employment until next year, when prospects may be better.

Tax Bill First

2. The tax bill.

The session began with a tax bill as its first priority. This is just now being cleared by the House Ways and Means Committee. McCormack says "a tax bill takes months of consideration, particularly one involving such an overhaul of the tax structure." But House Republican leader Charles A. Halleck of Indiana says the tax bill took so long in committee because "the American people, in their good common sense, think that taxes should not be cut without a cut in spending by the federal government."

3. Congress has to be deliberate these days.

Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey of Minnesota, the assistant Democratic leader, says the workload of Congress has increased so much that the era of short sessions is gone. "Whether we like it or not," he says, "long congressional sessions will remain common . . ."

4. Lack of push.

Some critics say Kennedy bills falter in Congress because no one pushes for them — neither the White House nor the Democratic leaders nor the public.

Responsibility

Sen. Javits says that "the President and his party cannot shun the responsibility for this 'standstill' legislative logjam." Some critics say Senate leader Mike Mansfield of Montana and McCormack are weaker leaders than their predecessors. Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson and the late Sam Rayburn of Texas.

Dirksen has a different view. He says "there is no public demand for youth camps, area redevelopment and the whole string of federal boondoggles, nor is there any enthusiasm in Congress for them."

"That is why most of Mr. Kennedy's program is bogged down and why only essential legislation will eventually pass."

Eccentrics Leave Money Everywhere--But In Banks

FORTUNE BURIED IN OLD CANS

Troy, Ohio (AP) — Last July, a wealthy but eccentric businessman told relatives only hours before his death that he had buried all his money beneath one of the feed mills he owned.

They thought he might be delirious.

But 76-year-old R. S. Altman, late owner of Altman Enterprises which controlled feed and grain mills in a wide area, was not out of his mind.

A fortune in buried treasure — in excess of a half million dollars in $5, $10 and $20 bills — has poured into the laps of the heirs, Altman's son, George, of Irwin, Pa., and Mrs. Mary Jane Ward, a daughter of Troy.

Not Official

No one has said, officially, just how much money. But in addition to two 10-gallon milk cans, a third five-gallon can, all stuffed to the brim with hard cash — more was reported found in safety deposit boxes.

Despite the doubt in the minds of relatives after the death-bed statement, they decided to dig. Workmen at the mill, under the guard of deputy sheriffs, began operations Tuesday at the Altman feed plant four miles north of here, at the little hamlet of El Dean. Eight hours later they made their first strike — the two 10-gallon cans. Bank officials after a count estimated the cans contained about $350,000 in bills.

Digging continued, and at 9:15 a.m. Thursday, a third can, the five-gallon one, was unearthed. Shortly after this, officials of the First National Bank of Troy said the total finds were "in excess of $500,000" without being specific about the amounts. This would have made the third can hold more than $150,000.

In Bundles

The money was tied in bundles two to three inches thick, wrapped in copies of the Dayton Daily News dated Oct. 10-15, 1945. The cans were not sealed, but the money was undamaged.

One of the mill employees helping to dig recalled an incident of five or six years ago that fits into the treasure picture.

The man told Sheriff's Deputy Jerry Chase that a section of the mill timbers had splintered, requiring some excavation to repair. The employee recalled that Altman sat and watched the workmen for five full days while they completed the task.

Wondered

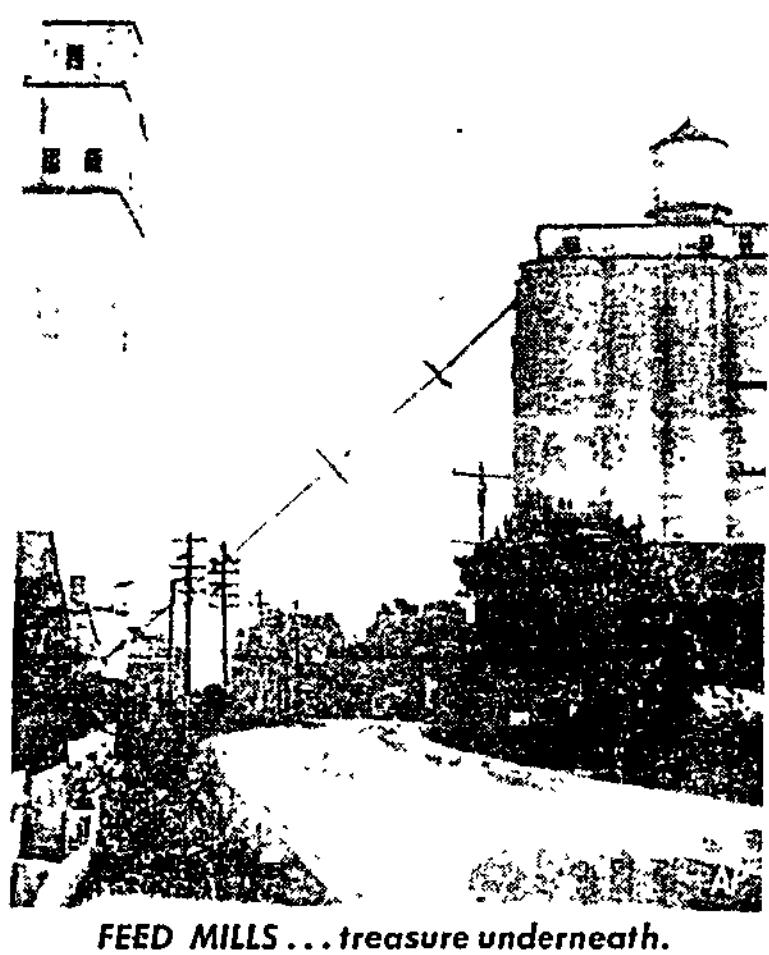

"I wondered at the time why Pop (Altman) sat there all those days and watched every move we made," he said, adding that now he realized that they dug within five feet of where Altman had buried the money.

The El Dean mill complex sprawls across both sides of the highway through the hamlet. Two of the cans were found on the east side of the road, the third on the west side.

An Altman friend of 30 years was quoted as saying: "After finding all that money most people will think he was an old miser. But it was just the opposite. He was a very generous man. He wasn't that kind of a person at all."

Surprise

Willis Ward, a son-in-law and manager of one of the Altman mills in Troy, said "the old gentleman had individualistic traits. (The money) certainly came as a surprise to the family and to the mill employees."

SAFE HELD MORE THAN SHE KNEW

Madison, N.Y. (AP) — Thieves missed it. A wealthy widow said she did not know she had it. But stunned state police found it — a $351,875 cash hoard in a sturdy compartment of a safe previously looted of an estimated $250,000.

State police announced Thursday they had found the surprise package after burning away 3 inches of steel plating because locksmiths had been unable to open the compartment. The thieves, believed to have been professional safecrackers, had tried but failed to open it Sunday, troopers said.

The publicity-shy widow, Mrs. Grove Hinman, previously had told troopers that she did not believe the small compartment of her basement safe contained anything of value and that she never had had the combination.

An investigator said it was assumed that the money, most of it $100 bills, had been stored there by Mrs. Hinman's husband, who died in 1961. Hinman was described as an eccentric automobile dealer and farmer with extensive real-estate holdings. Residents of this hamlet east of Syracuse said he carried large sums of money with him.

TROOPER REGNER . . . behind this door

Launch Bank Study

Washington (AP) — A study of the U.S. banking system — termed the broadest ever undertaken by government — was launched Thursday by the House Banking Committee.

Chairman Wright Patman, D-Tex., said "an entirely friendly survey" is being started with the mailing of the first of a series of questionnaires to a 3,000-bank sample of the country's financial institutions.

The first questionnaire seeks information on banks' policies affecting top personnel, their problems in raising capital and their financial reporting to stockholders.

Later questionnaires will deal with correspondent banking relations and the services provided by independent, chain and holding company banks and, finally, with policies on loans and interest.

Committee sources said the object is to build up a fund of information against which proposals for legislation on such matters as tightening or relaxing laws on branch banking and bank holding companies could be judged. It was indicated the committee will take no final action on pending proposals in these fields until the study is completed — probably next year.

The committee said elaborate precautions will be taken to prevent disclosure of information submitted by individual banks. Reply forms will contain perforated sections on which all individual identifications are made. These will be removed by federal reserve or other federal personnel and the committee staff will receive only summaries of information with no data that could be related to individual institutions, the committee said.

Nelson Rightly Proud Of Retirement Home

... Dedication Of 50-Bed Structure Planned Sunday

By DEAN TERRILL
Southeast Nebraska Bureau
Nelson — Sometimes being smallest can bring out the biggest pride.
Thus, an extra bit of button-popping as Nelson dedicates its golden age retirement home this Sunday. The Nuckolls County seat — population 695 — is the smallest of nearly 100 cities having a home operated by the nationally known Good Samaritan Society.
"When small towns get something they really want and need, you can be sure they're proud of it," beamed James F. Murphy, banker, whose zeal as trustee has sparked community-wide cooperation in the year-old venture.
A drive for contributions proved so successful — $46,000 so — that original plans for 40 beds were expanded to 50. Nearly all the balance of the sprawling $165,000 facility has been financed through local bond sales.

Half a dozen organizations and "just a lot of individuals" have volunteered evening mop-and-brush work in recent weeks to meet the dedication deadline. Mrs. Frank Morrison will speak at a 3 p.m. ceremony, in charge of the Rev. William Goldbeck of Hastings.
Conveniently adjacent to the City Park, the tree-surrounded brick structure is keynoted inside by a large dining area combined with a solarium. Individual bathrooms are among the features of each guest's quarters, and one wing is specially designed for bedfast residents.
Mrs. Ruth Snyder of Nelson will serve as administrator. Most of the rooms are already reserved for immediate occupancy.

Guardsmen Packing Up For Homeward Trip Via Convoys

Camp Ripley, Minn. (U) — Toughened by two weeks of training and enriched by a quarter-million-dollar pay day, Nebraska's National Guardsmen were to begin the long trip home Friday and Saturday.

The 128th engineering battalion of Nebraska's 67th separate infantry brigade, with units in Kearney, Holdrege, Grand Island, Hastings and McCook, was to be the first out the gates of this Army post, leaving Friday.

York Will Host Walther League

York—"Christ . . . the Center" is the theme of the 43rd annual convention of the Nebraska District Walther League to be held Friday through Sunday in York.

Under the leadership and guidance of their president, Margaret Moerer of Omaha, over 500 delegates from Nebraska and Wyoming are expected.

The Walther League is the young people's organization of the Lutheran Church-Missouri Synod.

Guardsmen of this battalion were paid Thursday.

Other Nebraska Guardsmen were to be paid Friday. The total amount to go to the 1,900 Nebraskans at the end of their annual two-week summer encampment is $220,000.

The bulk of the 67th brigade will leave Saturday. All units will arrive at their home armories Sunday, the engineers from south-central Nebraska camping out two nights along the way and the other Guardsmen spending one night en route home.

The Guard's own military police force was to direct the convoys out of the Camp Ripley area. Planes and helicopters also were to help avoid traffic tie-ups.

Meanwhile, the brigade commander, Brig. Gen. William Bachman of Omaha, said the encampment went "extremely well. The morale was the highest I've ever seen it."

Singled out by Gen. Bachman as the high spot of the field training was the live firing exercise which the infantry companies went through.

Dakotan Reveals Big Cattle Drive

Pierre, S.D. (U) — What may be the biggest cattle drive in the United States since the turn of the century is planned for next month.

Rancher Ray Houck, former lieutenant governor of South Dakota, said he would drive 2,000 head 125 miles down the Missouri River from his ranch in Walworth County to his Standing Butte spread near Pierre. The drive is to start Sept. 15.

Houck said he planned his drive "to promote the cattle industry and promote South Dakota."

Plans Told For Packing Plant In Beatrice Vicinity

Beatrice (UPI) — Homestead Packers, Inc., of Beatrice, has announced plans to build a beef and pork packing plant in the Beatrice area.

Homestead has received clearance from the Securities and Exchange Commission to offer stock in the corporation. The company proposes to build a packing plant costing between $500,000 and $600,000. Located on some 35 acres, the plant would be within 7 miles of Beatrice.

The company has made a conditioned offer of stock, the condition being that $500,000 must be raised in 120 days.

Clyde White of Omaha has been retained as a consultant to the firm. White has been active in the establishment of packing plants in other communities in Nebraska and Iowa, including a recent plant at Lexington, Neb.

70th Now Open Across Tracks

North 70th from O over the Missouri Pacific Railroad tracks to Eastborough is now open to through traffic, according to Deputy County Engineer Walter Hoppe.

Hoppe said the road, now surfaced with rock and gravel, will be paved next spring.

Temperatures will be slightly cooler Friday in north-central Nebraska and in the same place Friday night, but a bit cooler over the remainder of the two-state region on Saturday. Skies will be partly cloudy Friday.

NU Regents Give Hardin $2,000 Boost

University of Nebraska Chancellor Clifford Hardin has received a $2,000 pay raise, he reported Thursday.
The Board of Regents authorized the new salary of $29,500 for Hardin while approving the University's 1963-64 budget.

The pay raise figures out at 7%, almost exactly the figure authorized by the Regents for salary increases throughout the institution's faculty and staff.

None of the four state teachers colleges presidents is getting a salary hike this year, however.

The presidents—William Brandenburg, Wayne; Neal Gomon, Peru; Clark Elkins, Chadron; and Milton Hassel, Kearney—are paid $15,000 annually.

In an executive session last month, the State Normal Board rejected any upward adjustments.

State-owned housing is provided for Hardin, Gomon and Brandenburg, while Hassel and Elkins receive extra pay for such quarters.

The pay boost makes Hardin the highest paid university president in the Big Eight. It is his ninth year as chancellor at the University.

Tractor Upset Kills Fischer

Valentine (U) — A Valentine man, Ronald Fischer, 24, was found dead Thursday in a hay field on the William Taylor ranch, apparently the victim of a tractor accident.

Fischer's body was found near the overturned tractor he had been operating by ranch hands who had gone to get him for lunch. The ranch is 6 miles east of Valentine.

The Cherry County sheriff's office reported Fischer had been raking hay in the field. Fischer was the son of Mrs. Dena Fischer of Valentine.

Pawsey Would Like To Live In Cornhuskerland

Manchester, England (UPI) — Town Hall Clerk Harold Pawsey returned Thursday from a trip to Clearwater, Neb., and said he would like to live in Nebraska permanently.

Pawsey, 22, clerk in the nearby town of Salford, was a special guest at the first convention of Clearwater's Churchill Freedom Foundation as the winner of an essay competition in England.

Pawsey said at the Manchester airport he plans to start saving now so he can return to Nebraska for a vacation in two years.

"I shall be thinking about emigrating there and will ask my parents whether they would consider living in Nebraska," he said.

North-South Jet Service By 1965

Omaha (U) — Braniff International Airways will introduce north-south jet service in Omaha early in 1965, Henry J. Katzenberger, district sales manager, said.

He said Braniff will use the twin jet British Aircraft Corporation III, an airline designed for shorter flights. The plan is to fly the jets on the Dallas-Minneapolis route with stops in Oklahoma City, Wichita, Kansas City and Omaha.

Rev. Kurtz Accepts West Point Pastorate

West Point — The Rev. Charles A. Kurtz of Genoa has been selected to serve the Trinity Church here, succeeding the Rev. Richard Shapland.

The Rev. Mr. Kurtz has been pastor of the First Congregational Church at Genoa for 5 years and will assume his new position the first of September when the Rev. Mr. Shapland takes the pastorate of the Evangelical United Brethren Church in St. Francis, Kan.

Heiress Strangled With Own Silk Stocking, Says Detective

Fremont (UPI) — Idaho heiress Irene E. Davis was strangled with one of her own silk stockings and left in 6 inches of bathtub water at Portland's Hilton Hotel during a robbery, a Portland detective theorized here Thursday.

"She was not sexually motivated," detective William Taylor said. Miss Davis, 41, was the attractive 41-year-old woman. Miss Davis's family is prominent in Payette, Idaho, Taylor said.

He was here interrogating Robert Joseph Evans, 26-year-old Honolulu, Hawaii, resident charged with first degree murder at Portland. Dodge County Atty. Richard Kuhlman said Evans was arraigned before Peace Justice Schilke on a fugitive complaint and ordered held without bond. Oregon allows 30 days for extradition procedures.

Kuhlman said Evans was arrested at a residence here occupied by a former boyfriend classmate of Evans' at St. Patrick's Roman Catholic High School, now Bergan High. He had stayed here at two or three places, including several days at the Pathfinder Hotel. Kuhlman offered no further details.

Taylor arrived here Monday. For the veteran officer, it was the end of a manhunt that began Aug. 7, Tuesday, in Portland.

"We know that Miss Davis left Payette, Idaho, Sunday, Aug. 4, driving a Cadillac. She arrived in Portland late on the 4th or early the 5th," Taylor said.

He said she called her boyfriend in Fresno, Calif., by telephone. Taylor said he did not have the boyfriend's name.

Taylor said Miss Davis died by strangulation, according to an autopsy. The story was carried locally and on the west coast, he said.

"We got a call from her male friend," Taylor said. "He called the morning of the 7th and asked for details. Normally we are wary, but he told us she wore different jewelry, carried large sums of money." A sister in Idaho filled Taylor in on the fact that Miss Davis was wearing an unusual ring made in a Payette shop. The sister described the ring.

"We checked the bar at the Hilton and found she was in the lower bar about midnight. They close about then and we established that she had gone to the upper bar on the top of the hotel until about 2:15 a.m."

Taylor said questioning of patrons and the bartenders revealed Miss Davis had been in company of a man resembling Evans. "When we located his last address we found he had been working in Oregon City, Ore.," Taylor said.

A break came when a Fremont officer sighted the wanted car. A Fremont city officer found the car and notified Oregon. "By this time we had checked with Honolulu authorities and found that Evans was on a sort of conditional parole or something of that nature," Taylor said.

Based on the fact that Evans "was last seen with the deceased" a murder warrant was asked. Taylor flew here.

Taylor said it was his feeling Miss Davis got mixed up with "one of those fast boys" the type that likes to spend money when he has it.

He said a search warrant allowed officers to go through the car. In it, Taylor said, was found Miss Davis's ring with one diamond stone removed.

Nebraska Could Be Bypassed

By WILLIAM O. DOBLER

Nebraska people have an interest in a power development that includes operations in 10 Midwestern and Western states. The development calls for the integration of generation and transmission facilities among major cities of these states for the purpose of greater efficiency and reliability. It is reported that the Omaha Public Power District is a part of the movement and such is undoubtedly the case.

OPPD has never shown any inclination to become a part of any Nebraska grid system. Rather than being tied in with smaller power facilities in Nebraska, OPPD is looking in all other directions outside its own state. It apparently is the only municipality owned and operated power agency to become a part of the 10-state integrated system. Criticism of the proposed system has been voiced by Sen. Lee Metcalf of Montana who sees the plan as an attack upon the "yardsticks" of public power and a grab by the large utilities. Nebraska would do well to consider, at least, this warning from a senator from another state.

Nebraska is the only all-public-power state in the nation but none of its senators saw fit to issue any kind of word in regard to the Omaha tieup with private power interests throughout our region. It is possible that there is nothing in the development to warrant even any misgivings but this state has too much at stake to proceed in the dark under such an assumption.

We are not sure exactly what Senator Metcalf meant when he spoke of this development as destructive of the "yardsticks" of public power but we suspect that his concern centers on the concentration of authority in the hands of private power groups. What he probably fears is a utility combine that would, in effect, put its competition out of business.

One of the concepts under which public power came into being was for sharing the cost and benefits. Certainly, in the case of power in Nebraska, this was a major factor. One of the reasons we went so strongly into public power was the fact that there were many small customers to be served in our state. We had a lot of land area but not much concentration of population. Omaha and Lincoln were the only two large concentrations of population. Omaha long ago was left pretty well to its own devices while Lincoln in the matter of electric power generation and distribution became an adjunct of the state. Now, Lincoln, too, is going more its own way while Omaha appears to be going completely in another direction.

Maybe all of this will turn out for the best in the end but we are not so sure that it will. What is happening is the squeezing of most of Nebraska back into the individual small economic groups of which it was constituted when it gave birth to the public power concept. What is happening is a siphoning off of the profit-producing end of the power picture in one direction and the less profitable operations in another direction. This is not to say that any specific power agency in Nebraska, large or small, is uneconomical but it is a rule of thumb in utility operation that profits run in direct proportion to the size of the operation. This is particularly true in electric power, as shown by the fact that the integrated system under discussion is in the planning stage.

One wonders if Nebraska can maintain a competitive power rate position in the face of such a development as is envisioned by the agencies of these 10 states. Lincoln has wanted to become the master of its own destiny in power matters and not without some good reasons, but how long could Lincoln remain competitive for new industry in the face of a giant Midwestern and Western combine?

Such a combine might be a fine thing for the larger metropolitan centers but while it could help the big grow bigger, it could also help the small grow smaller. The situation is not one that Nebraska would want to condemn on its face but it is one that calls for scrutiny by power leaders and others in this state if we are to see to our own best interests.

Nebraska would be very much asleep at the switch if it thought that it was forever safe from a grab of its power facilities by the private power interests of the nation. The struggle between private and public power is no less today than it was 30 years ago when public power was just beginning to come into its own. The development that has earned the criticism of Senator Metcalf is not a small potatoes deal and proposed by its sponsors as a move with the potential for becoming the largest single power operation in the nation.

The development is a matter of major concern in itself as well as a warning to Nebraska to keep its own house in order—something we have not done very well in power issues in recent years. This proposed 10-state integration should cause Nebraska to veer away from the parochial attitudes and ideas that have marked our power efforts in recent years.

Struggle Goes On

Life Could Be Too Soft

Among the demands Negro marchers will take to Washington with them when they descend upon the nation's capital next week will be one for a minimum wage of $2 an hour. This, the Negro leaders say, is the figure government reports show to be needed to give a man the minimum acceptable standard of living.

The case for a minimum wage is a good one but care should be exercised that it not become the only answer in life. It is not the minimum wage that has hurt the cause of the Negro or other minority groups in the United States. The wage system in American industry and professions is sufficient for a decent standard of living and has been for some years but the members of minority groups have too often been denied complete access to this system.

If the American Negro had full equality of opportunity in employment he would not have to be too concerned with the minimum wage. And where the minimum wage should be is quite a good question. It should not, in our opinion, be at a point where it provides an individual with a really satisfactory way of life. The minimum wage certainly must leave room for the application of much more incentive by way of unfilled wants.

The minimum wage should destroy any possibility of exploitation but it should not destroy personal ambition. The minimum wage needs to be low enough that actual wages can be applied according to individual ability and willingness to work. Movements that become excessively concerned with guarantees beyond individual responsibility only contribute to their own defeat.

India's Problems

Red China's aggression against India has entered a tense period of rest, but it was sufficient to set in motion a chain of internal events that is bringing the Nehru government the closest it has been to a crisis.

It was serious enough that the attack demolished India's reliance on neutralism. It was one of the most appealing foundation stones of the Nehru regime. But the pressures of defense sent India into a phase of domestic stringency, aggravated by inflation. Now 100,000 workers are on the verge of striking in Bombay. The country, generally, is restive and opponents of Nehru's dominant Congress party, for the first time, have felt strong enough to ask for test of confidence.

While it is not expected that the Nehru government will fall, the gathering clouds indicate that the honeymoon is over, and it has been an enduring one. Nehru was accepted as the spiritual and political heir of Mahatma Gandhi as long ago as 1947. The country has pursued his policies since then. The 16 years have been sufficient to test those policies under the stress and strain of reality. Obviously, a number of them are breaking under the load.

The problem is compounded. There must be a realistic reappraisal of India's position both domestically and internationally. With critics gaining in strength the future direction of the country must bend. Add to this the fact that Nehru is in his mid-seventies and has but a limited time left the whole picture of successorship becomes scrambled.

It is the time for concern among India's western friends for despite Nehru's neutralism the West has not abandoned India nor won it either. In this period of uncertainty Western diplomacy needs to be even more sensitive and well directed. Much can be lost there.

Out Of Character

Governor Frank Clements has chosen Herbert S. Walters to succeed the late U.S. Senator Estes Kefauver for the 16 months interim prior to the next general election.

Walters is a Tennessee Democrat, as was Kefauver. But there the resemblance ends. Walters is a Sen. Byrd type of Democrat, a strong conservative, and a man in sympathy with most things Kefauver opposed.

Governor Clements did not exceed his discretion in appointing Walters. But he did ignore the well established affection the Tennessee voters extended to Sen. Kefauver, and their obvious endorsement of his liberal causes. No distinguished man can be exactly replaced, but the highest of political ethics asks that a successor be at least named in the image of his predecessor. That much is owed to the constituency.

There is a redeeming feature in the Clements actions, and perhaps a political one, too. The new senator is 71-years-old. By virtue of his age he is not a long time threat either to other Tennessee senatorial aspirants or to the state's liberal convictions. Moreover, he will be on his own in another 16 months while new figures will arise to contest for the elected remainder of the Kefauver term.

The governor may have had this in mind. Had he named a younger conservative or even a Kefauver-like successor the action would have been one of selecting an individual from a field of aspirants for special favor.

If Tennessee continues to favor the Kefauver line it can return to it in less than a year and a half by the simple expedient of going to the polls and electing itself. Meantime, Gov. Clements muffed a chance to be a statesman.

Khrushchev Gives Steps Toward Peace

G A G R A. GEORGIA, U.S.S.R. — Chairman Khrushchev was extremely frank in this second time I've interviewed him on the shore of the Black Sea except on one point — Red China. Here he was humorous but cagey. I opened the subject by asking whether China, now out from under the wing of the Soviet, might cause world trouble.

"Now you are trying to make me speak for the Chinese," Khrushchev replied. "I am not instructed to speak for the Chinese but if I am to express my own personal view, I don't expect they will start anything. The Chinese believe in peace and coexistence. They are saying so and we believe them."

Mrs. Agnes Meyer, who participated in the interview, then asked whether the growing trust between the United States and the Soviet Union would help prevent the Chinese from causing trouble, to which Khrushchev replied, "I should say the Chinese people and government want peace. But, of course, better relations between the USA and the USSR will better stabilize the world situation. I don't mean," Khrushchev added, "an American-Soviet understanding at the expense of a third party, but one from which all nations would gain."

When I interviewed Khrushchev two years ago, we discussed the difficulty of getting better relations between the United States and Russia unless there was more mutual trust. This brought a lot of criticism from right-wingers in the United States, who asserted mutual trust was impossible, but I am still convinced it is the most important problem facing the two countries and I asked Khrushchev how we could improve mutual trust. He enumerated the following points:

"The major question is disarmament, but it is difficult to approach now, so we should take up some other matters first. "The test ban treaty, while not complete, has settled the heart of the problem — the poisoning of the atmosphere. "The second is a nonaggression pact. "The third is the German question. If we solve it, it will clear the atmosphere right away. Then we will be in a position to talk about a reduction in armed forces in Germany. This is a matter on which I believe we can agree."

"Then there is the freezing of budgets to stop the arms race. "Finally, we believe it is possible to preclude a surprise attack. What does this mean? It means that we would deploy control groups on the territory of each side — at major railway junctions, airports, and seaports. The groups would see to it that there were no movement of troops for surprise attack and this in turn would lead to greater confidence. "After that we could raise the question of withdrawing troops back to their original frontiers, which in turn could lead to a discussion of general disarmament."

Governors Plump For Moderation

WASHINGTON—The southern governors conference this week isolated its extremists, Govs. George C. Wallace of Alabama and Ross R. Barnett of Mississippi, after allowing them a few face-saving gestures, and then methodically let the steam out of the racial issue.

This outbreak of sweet reason does not guarantee smooth sailing for civil rights. It does, however, amount to a manifesto that the great majority of Southern governors are through with handling race matters in the Wallace-Barnett manner.

It says that they do not want any more race riots and federal troops, any more interference with business and public order. It says that they do not now believe that they could close up their public schools even if they wanted to.

All this has been apparent by inference in many ways and places for some time. The conference just concluded at White Sulphur Springs simply dramatized it in a public way by all that it did not allow to happen. After all, Gov. Orval E. Faubus of Little Rock, Ark., was conference chairman and all the governors were Southern Democrats but one, Henry Bellmon of border-state Oklahoma. Bellmon is a Goldwater supporter, and civil rights moderation suits his book admirably.

Only five years ago Faubus was the symbol of Southern resistance to school integration after the traumatic episode at Little Rock. Only two years before that, a magnificent "Southern Manifesto" denouncing the Supreme Court ban on school segregation won a support from 19 senators and 77 congressmen of the 11 states of the old confederacy.

The signatories pledged themselves to use "all lawful means" to bring about reversal of the decision and to prevent force from being used to implement it. Senators abstaining were Albert Gore and Estes Kefauver of Tennessee and the then majority leader, Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas, now vice-president.

The just-ended conference also displayed most southern governors in a reserved mood about presidential politics. One of them explained that while Senator Goldwater's admirers were numerous in the South, most practical politicians there doubted that he could be nominated or elected.

With few exceptions President Kennedy enjoys good working relationships with Southern governors. Their private opinion is that he will be re-elected with Southern help.

THE NEIGHBORS SAY

Corn High As A Coon's Eye

By MONA B. PARKER

If the coons are living high in Pawnee County, Republican columnist Mrs. Lester Eastwood writes, the coyotes are living higher. In the Eastwoods' immediate neighborhood, coyotes pick up a hen every morning and occasionally a young pig, as fancy and appetite strike them.

It's a little more difficult, she says, to think of deer in the same category, since they are such beautiful creatures. However, there are many reports of damage to corn fields as large numbers of them nibble away at the tender young ears.

A Wyoming friend told Jack Tarr of the David City Banner Press about an unusual wintertime problem in that part of the country involving rabbits.

The bunnies take shelter sometimes in sections of steel oil well casings lying on open ground. Soon they are frozen within the steel pipes, creating a problem that is sometimes solved by inserting a small charge of dynamite in one end, touching it off and shooting the rabbit out across the plains like a frozen bullet.

Mr. Tarr's imagination took over from there. He pictures a Wyoming cowboy arriving at the Big Corral in the Sky and being asked by Kit Carson how he was doing.

"Aw—" the cowboy would say, "I got bushwhacked by a frozen rabbit."

Geneva residents may expect to hear some angry and continuing noises for several weeks now, according to Howard Hamilton of the Nebraska Signal.

Blackbirds are gathering at their favorite grove. The problem is that about half

The Lyons Mirror Sun tells why the sweet corn season is almost at an end for one planter. The raccoons got to the patch before he did. To thwart the little night burglars, he puts lights in among the corn rows. But the only result seemed to be that the coons could see better than ever and nearly doubled their destructiveness. Another theory advanced has been placing a transistor radio out in the corn patch, tuned in to some lively rock 'n roll music.

the trees in the grove have been cut down and there just isn't roosting room. Hence they'll be forced to sleep in shifts, which means that part of them will be in the air all night. And those in the air will have plenty to talk about, while waiting their turn.

Iver Erikson of Comstock has a local reputation for his gardening prowess, according to the News. On a recent trip to Idaho and Oregon, he found something in the Blue Mountains to outdo anything that ever came out of his vegetable patch. He claims it's a petrified watermelon and weighs over a hundred pounds.

The News reports: "He brought it home, but decided it was too hard to eat, so he gave it to his mother-in-law, Mrs. Maude Emry."

Johnson County Courier believes that nature truly is a thing of wonder. The good things offset the bad, and the other way around in almost every instance.

She has been reading up on new experiments in what is called biological control in the matter of weed eradication. This is a natural means instead of expensive and what are being found to be harmful sprays. Australia has recorded success in this line in a fight against prickly pear cactus. A moth was discovered which destroyed nearly all of the plants on 60 million acres in a four-year period.

Mrs. Eastwood is of the opinion, with more and more dissatisfaction arising from indiscriminate use of sprays, that the country will see many new accomplishments in this field in the next few years.

Dick Gregory

Beatrice, Neb. Negro comedian Dick Gregory was just another unknown until he was seen on the Jack Paar show. Subsequent night club appearances, etc. have brought him fame and enviable financial rewards. But he has white people, not Negroes, to thank for his present happy state.

As a result, his prominence in these essentially hostile street demonstrations is a bit difficult to applaud from the white viewpoint.

Taking The Risks

The incredible thing about this test ban treaty is that it has kicked up so much opposition from such influential people. We desperately need to go a mile and the treaty takes us almost exactly an inch. One looks at the colossal problem of peace and wonders when we are going to arrive if it takes so much huffing and puffing to make what is essentially little more than a gesture of good will.

In fighting battles, soldiers always talk of accepting a calculated risk. One would think that these fearful souls expected the treaty to be countersigned by the Almighty before they would even consider it. Surely we must take reasonable risks in making peace as well as in making war. Khrushchev has been acting pretty decently of late. Why not show him that we are willing to go as far along the road toward peace as he is?

Three times we have stood "eyeball to eyeball" with our fingers on the atomic triggers. Could any reasonable peace treaty put us in more horrible jeopardy? Khrushchev is waging an acrimonious quarrel with his powerful Chinese allies because he advocates the thing we are advocating, namely, peaceful coexistence. Would Curtis LeMay and Barry Goldwater force him to accept the Chinese thesis of war with no quarter? And yet it seems to me that those who oppose this tepid and almost meaningless treaty are trying to force him to do just that.

I am scared of the extreme right under Senator Goldwater. I feel he is going to kick up much more opposition to the treaty than the administration imagines possible. A violent reaction toward the extreme right is one of the possibilities of the next year.

The sad thing for a Nebraska to realize is that when the roll is called, our senators, Curtis and Hruska, will most likely be found opposing the treaty. It would be in character. A few weeks before the outbreak of World War II, 1941, Mr. Curtis voted practically to disband the United States Army.

Our senators seem aggressive in demanding our full rights everywhere but very timid about taking a chance on peace. I doubt if they really represent the sentiment of the people of our state on foreign affairs.

Which Brand?

I was very interested a few days ago in an article in the paper about the state Republican party camp at Millard for teenage Republicans.

I would like very much to know which brand of Republicanism they will be taught. Will it be the brand of the founder of the party, who said: "With malice toward none, with charity toward all, let us do the right as God gives us to see the right." Will they teach these impressionable young people the principle that "labor comes before capital because if labor had not first existed, there would be no capital." Will they teach these children: "What ever I am or hope to be, I owe to my angel mother."

Or will this be a modern school taught by teachers who have other ideas such as eliminating unfortunates from relief rolls, that capital is a sacred cow, that in order to defeat communism, you must use communist methods such as youth political training camps and having children spy on their parents?

I believe it is the duty of every red-blooded American parent in both major political parties to be concerned with the answer to these questions.

Price Of Permit

My 19-year-old son has a gripe against the state of Nebraska and in view of the fact that he is a minor and I feel his gripe is legitimate, I write this note of protest.

My son, George R. Campbell, is now on leave from the Navy, having joined the service with the "Beef Company" in February, 1962. He was made an "admiral" in the Nebraska Navy by Governor Morrison's decree. He must be back from leave by August 31.

While in the service, his driver's license expired. Upon arriving home, he called the Highway Department and was told they would fix it so he could drive. Tuesday he went to do this and returned home extremely put out and indignant. He had been issued a new license that expires the last of August and the people in charge had the gall to charge the boy $5.

In all fairness, I think the state of Nebraska could afford to give him a permit for those few days free. What incentive will this sort of thing provide toward making young people good citizens?

Hearing Set On Complaint Against Northwestern Bell

There will be a hearing in Alinsworth Sept. 5 on a complaint by the Nebraska Railway Commission against the Northwestern Bell Telephone Co. of Omaha.

The commission contends the company has continued to provide telephone service in an area which was formerly an army post although its authorization to do so expired at the end of World War II.

The Alinsworth airport and a golf course are the customers now served by Bell there. There are also two phones in construction gravel pits.

The commission's complaint said Bell was authorized to provide service at the base just for the duration of the war and should have pulled out and let the Johnston Telephone Co. take over afterwards.

Clarkson Man's Death Counted As Road Fatality

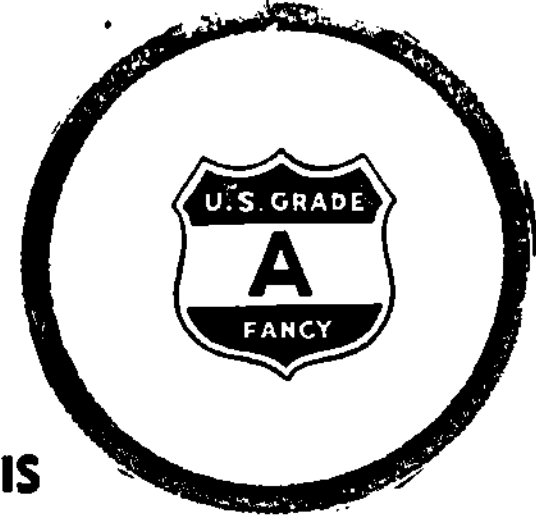

The Aug. 16 death of a Clarkson man, crushed under his own tractor, will be counted as a traffic fatality, State Accident Records Bureau Chief Tom Ryan reported Thursday.

He is Richard Novotny, 50, killed on a county road 3 1/2 miles southeast of Clarkson when his tractor went off the road and he was thrown in front of it.

His death brings the Nebraska total for 1963 to 199 deaths, compared to 221 on the same date a year ago.

Cupid Hits Marriage License Bureau Renovators

New York (AP)—Cupid fired an arrow in the City's renovated marriage license bureau even before it was opened Thursday and pierced the hearts of the two city workers in charge of the project.

The architect and the interior designer became so caught up in the spirit of their task that they were married on the job, so to speak. They now are Mr. and Mrs. Eli Elsner.

A widow when she set out on the assignment and a bride when she finished the 18-month project, the former Rosalind Clark called it "A labor of love."

City Clerk Herman Katz

performed the wedding ceremony May 9 in the bureau chapel. Mrs. Elsner's second marriage there.

Holding hands with her husband in the chapel Thursday, the interior designer recalled:

"I was married here the first time and it was so depressing that I never forgot it."

"That's why I went in for colors. I was principally concerned with color because it creates a mood," Mrs. Elsner said.

Moment Of Joy

"I hope it makes the people who pass through here happy. The environment as you start a new life should reflect a moment of joy because when you are married it is the greatest moment in your life."

Redesigned to look as little as possible like an office, the rebuilt chapel has white vinyl walls, green wall-to-wall carpeting and orange settees. In jeweled fused box a white dove holds entwined wedding rings in its beak.

Katz, who marries thousands of couples there each year, kept only one thing from the old chapel: the plastic-covered card from which he reads the ceremony.

Legion Club To Hear Soon On Bottle Bill Classification

Results of the Lincoln Legionnaire Club's application to the Internal Revenue Service to have its classification changed to comply with the new "bottle club" bill should be known "in the immediate future," Miles W. Johnston said Thursday.

Johnston, Lincoln attorney for the club, said he expects official word on the application for a 501 (c) (7) classification to come from Washington within the next few days.

Under the bottle club and non-profit liquor licensing law passed by the 1963 Legislature, licenses may be issued to those non-profit corporations which have been exempted from the payment of federal income taxes as provided by Section 501 (c) (7) and (8), Internal Revenue Code of 1954.

Welfare Work

The Legionnaire Club of Lincoln and other veterans' organization clubs throughout the state are classified under Section 501 (c) (4) which means that all funds brought into the clubs through their social activities must go to welfare work.

Under a 501 (c) (7) classification the funds "don't have to go anywhere except to the members," Johnston explained. A 501 (c) (8) classification applies to fraternal.

Johnston emphasized that if the club's application for a classification change is approved, there "won't be any change" in the club's policy on welfare work and that all funds derived from social ac-

Nancy's Mother Finds Job; Will Stay In Denver

Denver (UPI)—The mother of critically ill Nancy Joanne Schuldies, who needs a liver transplant operation to live, has found a job in Denver.

Mrs. Shirley (Schuldies of Scottsbluff, Neb., found the job just as she was about to return home and went to work on the 6 p.m.-2 a.m. shift as a waitress in a Denver motel coffee shop.

The shift allows her to spend most of the day with her 10-month-old daughter, who has been in Colorado General Hospital for two months.

The child, born with a defective liver, will die unless she receives a new liver in a transplant operation.

Mrs. Schuldies had said she could no longer afford to stay in Denver to be near her baby unless she could find a job.

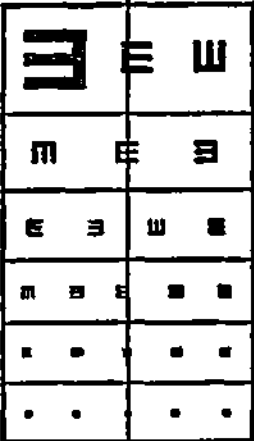

Surgeons need a donor child to provide a liver for Nancy. The donor would have to be a child no older than 3 who is dying of a cause that would not affect the liver.

Only 4 liver transplants have ever been performed on humans, all of them in Denver this year. Each of the patients died within 3 weeks.

Israel Reports New Shooting

... U.N. COUNCIL TO STUDY TROUBLE

United Nations, N.Y. (AP) — Israel Thursday reported new shooting along the tense Israeli-Syrian border as the U.N. Security Council was summoned to take up the problem Friday afternoon.

The meeting of the 11-nation council had been set tentatively for Monday, but Israel's chief delegate, Michael S. Comay, pressed for urgent action and the date was advanced.

Council President Sivert A. Nielsen of Norway set the meeting for 3 p.m. EDT Friday when Israel and Syria are expected to detail charges of aggression against each other.

Go After Support

Both sides spent the day consulting with other delegations in an effort to line up support in advance. Comay, who arrived Wednesday night from Jerusalem, saw U.S. Ambassador Charles W. Yost and British Delegate Roger Jackling, among others. Friday he will see Soviet Ambassador Nikolai Fedorenko and other council members.

The 13 Arab delegations to the United Nations issued a statement backing Syria and reaffirming previous Arab declarations that "any attack on any Arab state amounts to an attack against all Arab countries."

Comay told newsmen that he had received word that Syrian forces had fired during Wednesday night on two Israeli settlements — Dardara and Ashmora, in the central demilitarized zone — with mortars and automatic weapons. He did not indicate whether there were casualties.

The council meeting was originally requested by Israel Tuesday night. Syria followed Wednesday with a request of its own. Each charged violations of the 1949 armistice agreement and aggressive acts.

Israel on Wednesday night sent to the council president a list of 98 alleged incidents in which it said fire was directed from Syria into Israel since last December.

Meanwhile, word came from Jerusalem that Israel had agreed conditionally to accept a proposal for U.N. inspection of the border areas, provided Syria also would agree. The proposal was submitted to the two governments earlier in the week by Lt. Gen. Odd Bull of Norway, chief of the U.N. truce observation organization in Palestine.

NEHRU DEFEATS NO CONFIDENCE MOTION

... Prime Minister Infuriated By Non-Communist Opposition

New Delhi (AP) — After an angry shouting match during which he had to be waved down, Prime Minister Nehru Thursday beat off a motion of no confidence in his foreign and domestic policies.

His ruling Congress Party mustered most of its members in parliament to defeat the motion, submitted by the combined non-Communist opposition, 348-61.

It was the first no-confidence motion put forward during Nehru's 16 years in office, and some of the charged infuriated the prime minister.

Losses Temper

He lost his temper over an opposition claim that military operations against Communist Chinese border intruders were taken last fall on political — not military — advice.

While former Defense Minister V. K. Krishna Menon was insisting the army made the decisions, and opposition members were shouting "False!" Nehru began an impassioned interruption.

Minister for Parliamentary Affairs Satyanarayan Singh had to raise his hand and motion the prime minister down.

At another point, Nehru engaged in a shouting match with Socialist member R. M. Manohar Lohia over whether the average Indian lived on the equivalent of four U.S. cents a day.

20 Cents

Nehru claimed it was 20 cents.

In an 80-minute appeal for support near the end of the debate, Nehru called for unity in the face of the Chinese threat. He said Communist China was gloating over the no-confidence motion.

Nehru's handling of the border conflict with China and the interlocking economic problems aroused parliamentary discontent with his government.

Beside charging the army moved for political reasons although military men knew it would be virtually helpless against the Chinese, the opposition also claimed the army was poorly equipped.

Nehru refused to answer charges many soldiers had inadequate boots, causing thousands of cases of frostbite.

Inconsistent

He left complaints about higher taxes to Finance Minister Morarji Desai. Desai said everyone called for stronger defense, but then complained about higher taxes to pay for it. He called this inconsistent.

The Communists abstained in the voting, but they baited Food and Agriculture Minister S. K. Patil on having to take surplus food from the United States.

Patil lashed back that Communist Russia had failed to solve its agricultural problems while the United States had surplus food to help India.

During the four-day debate Nehru's government also was charged with corruption and favoritism.

Ex - AEC Commissioners Concerned About N-Test Ban Treaty

Washington (AP)—Two former Atomic Energy Commissioners, Lewis L. Strauss and Dr. Willard F. Libby, expressed deep concern Thursday about restraints in the limited nuclear test-ban treaty.

"Worried, reluctant acquiescence" was the way Libby, an AEC commissioner from 1954 to 1959, described his view to a three-committee Senate hearing. "It's a very close question," he said, but on balance if he were a senator he probably would vote to ratify the pact.

First, Libby said, the senators should "examine to your fullest satisfaction" as far as possible whether Soviet possession of the 100-megaton bomb gives the Russians "a commanding advantage."

Approval Conceded

Strauss, AEC chairman from 1953 to 1958, was more critical and left no doubt that he opposes ratification, but he conceded that the Senate shortly will approve it. He predicted the Russians will cheat and urged the Senate to insist on these reservations to the pact:

—That nuclear weapons may be used without notice "should any of our allies or any of the free nations be subjected to armed aggression."

—That there be free use of nuclear power "to construct harbors, canals and other peaceful works" both in American territory or in that of friendly countries which request it.

Libby similarly expressed concern that the treaty might limit too much this country's Plowshare program of seeking peaceful uses of nuclear power. He commented, without elaboration, that nuclear experts "are about ready to dig a canal by nuclear blasts."

The Senate, Libby said, should insist on "some tacit understanding" that in case of a project to dig a new Panama Canal, special considerations should be in order.

Strauss said a sea-level canal across the Isthmus of Panama is "a probable strategic requirement in view of the vulnerability of the Panama Canal with its locks and narrow channels." But he said the treaty would prohibit this development by nuclear explosions unless the Senate adds a reservation.

No War Limits

In connection with Strauss' concern that this country be free to use nuclear weapons in coming to the aid of its allies, Sen. John Sparkman, D-Ala., put into the record a State Department opinion. It said the treaty would not "impose any limitation on the use of nuclear weapons by parties in war."

The department said the treaty's application is limited specifically to tests and does not deal "with the use of nuclear weapons in combat or in connection with armed hostilities."

Strauss said he has been told this "clause does not, in fact, mean what it seems to say." He urged the Senate to "exercise its power of reservation to clear the ambiguity."

Wide Divergence

Chairman J. W. Fulbright, D-Ark., of the foreign relations group commented at one point that testimony by scientists so far has reflected "a wide divergence" or views about the treaty. He said this poses a difficult problem for senators who had thought "these intellectual giants would arrive at some common conclusion."

The senators heard new solid backing for the treaty from Harold E. Stassen, a White House disarmament adviser when Dwight D. Eisenhower was president. The former Minnesota governor appealed for overwhelming bipartisan ratification to uphold President Kennedy's conduct of foreign relations.

"The rejection of this treaty would lead to such a disastrous deterioration in the President's position in the world relationship," Stassen said, "that this in itself would add a new danger of war."

Libby said the vast knowledge gained by the hydrogen bomb compared with the smaller atomic bombs indicates the Russians may have learned things unknown to U.S. experts during last year's high yield tests.

For Big Tests

He disagreed with top defense, military and scientific witnesses who said there is so little use for the super bombs that the effort to produce them is not worthwhile. He insisted this country should obtain the knowledge from actual testing of huge explosions of 100 megatons or "even higher."

A bomb of 100 megatons would be equal in explosive force to 100 million tons of TNT.

Libby said "every test series has paid large dividends." He said the Russian advantage from the high megaton tests "may be very large."

Britain Demands Release Of Captured Cuban Refugees

London (UPI) — Britain Thursday demanded that the Fidel Castro regime release a group of Cuban refugees captured on an island in the Bahamas.

A foreign office official handed to the Cuban ambassador photos taken by U.S. Coast Guard planes, that showed a Castro helicopter and gunboats landing troops on British soil.

Anti-Castro Cubans said 19 refugees were seized.

The protest note demanded an apology and "assurance that clear orders will be given to the Cuban military authorities to prevent a repetition of such an incident."

Note Handed

Assistant Undersecretary of State N. J. A. Cheetham conferred with the Cuban ambassador at the foreign office. The note was handed to the Cuban foreign ministry in Havana Wednesday by British Charge d'Affairs Paul Scott, the announcement said.

The British note demanded

Cuba "return the prisoners captured in Anguilla Cay to the British authorities in the Bahamas." It gave details of evidence gathered by British and U.S. authorities since the Aug. 13 incident.

Britain "protests vigorously against the incursion into British territory and territorial waters accompanied by the use of force," the note said.

American Witnesses

Reconnaissance aircraft of the U.S. Coast Guard observed a Cuban helicopter landing on Anguilla Cay and Cuban torpedo boats landing men on the island, the note said.

Close-Schools Appeal Heard

Birmingham, Ala. (AP)—An appeal to close public schools here in the face of desegregation Sept. 4 was heard Thursday by the city school board, but the board took no immediate action.

A U.S. District Court judge has approved a school board plan to close schools to the 1963-64 school year.

School Supt. Theo R. Wright said that any appeal to close the schools as public institutions would have to come in the form of a petition. A spokesman for a newly organized citizens group said such a petition would be circulated.

Similar Bombing

As racial tension simmered following the dynamiting of a Negro attorney's house Tuesday night, a federal judge said he would call for a grand jury investigation of charges in a similar bombing last May.

U.S. District Judge Clarence W. Allgood said he would ask the investigation when the grand jury meets Monday. He said he wants the jurors to consider charges against a Negro who said two Birmingham policemen were involved in the May dynamiting—one of two which set off rioting here.

Biggest Mistake

"Closing the schools would be the biggest mistake we could make," she said. "I'm not for integration, but if it comes to a choice, we must keep the schools open. It would be utterly impossible to keep 72,000 children in private schools, even if people could afford it."

Wright, in answering the requests from Mrs. Holt and Mrs. R. T. Hudson, who accompanied Mrs. Holt, pointed out that if the board agreed to close West End High School, for instance, private groups would have to raise more than $2 million in cash. West End was brought into the discussion because Mrs. Hudson's daughter goes there.

State Law

The appeal was based on a state law which gives the school board the authority to close any school facing integration; to sell it to private interests; and to pay tuition grants for students who want to attend segregated private schools.

"But why have you waited so long?" Board Chairman R. C. Arthur asked Mrs. Holt. He said this was the first time such an appeal had come before the board.

A spokesman for the Birmingham Council of Parents and Teachers, Mrs. Edwin D. Griffin, told the board that

Khrushchev Checks Quake-Shattered City

Skopje, Yugoslavia (AP)—Premier Khrushchev made a flying trip to this quake-shattered city Thursday and at the sight of the ruins shook his head and muttered, "terrible, terrible."

The Soviet leader congratulated a 500-man team of Russian soldiers and technicians for their help in clearing the wreckage of the city destroyed by a catastrophic quake July 26.

But there was no immediate indication that Khrushchev offered the Yugoslav government any major financial aid to build a new Skopje.

U.S. Aid Announced

U.S. Agriculture Secretary Orville Freeman, after visiting Skopje two weeks ago, announced a grant of $50 million in American aid for rebuilding.

Hours after Khrushchev flew here from Belgrade with President Tito, the official Yugoslav news agency Tan-

FUN NEWS IN SUBURBIA

COUNTRY CLUB TERRACE

It's almost time for Suburban residents to tuck away their vacation memories, for the busy month of September is slowly but surely creeping up on us.

Soon the members of the younger generation will be swinging their lunch boxes as they head for school; mothers again will be able to have that second cup of coffee in the morning before plunging into household duties, and dad — well, there's always leaves to rake!

Enough of the future and back to the present which concerns vacationers who have returned home.

A 10-day camping trip to Lone Rock, Colo., was the holiday vacation of Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Smith and their children, Susan, Craig and Kim, who returned home last Friday.

Swimming and fishing were only a few of the activities that the Smith family enjoyed while vacationing in Colorado.

Mr. and Mrs. Smith and their children also made other stops while vacationing and these were in Garnett, Kan., where they visited with Mrs. Smith's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Watson. From Garnett they motored to Ottawa where they were the guests of Mr. Smith's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert Smith.

There also are two new members of the bassinet set in the Country Club Terrace news this week.

The newest addition at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Roger Scheidt is their infant daughter, Lisa Anne, who made her debut on August 13, at Lincoln General Hospital.

Lisa Anne's maternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Emery Packard and her paternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Henry Scheidt.

Lisa also has three older sisters — Diana, Laura and Corrin.

Cantor and Mrs. Sidney Rube are the proud parents this week of a son, Saul Asher, born Tuesday, August 20 at Lincoln General Hospital.

The newest member of the Rube family has an older brother, David Mendil who is 2½ years old.

Saul's maternal grandparents are the Rev. and Mrs. Mordecai Rube of Milwaukee, Wis.

CASINO HEIGHTS

Mrs. Gilbert Schoenfeld was hostess last Wednesday when she entertained at a surprise coffee at her Ca-

Plan Sunday Tea

The Insurance Women of Lincoln will begin a new season of activities on Sunday when the members will entertain at a membership tea to be held at the Governor's Mansion.

Special guests will be insurance women from the Grand Island and Hastings area, where a new club of the national association has been proposed.

Also guests will be mem-sino Heights home.

The surprised honoree was Mrs. Harland Craft and the invited guests were eight business associates of Mrs. Craft's and Mrs. Schoenfeld's.

More news from the home of Mr. and Mrs. Schoenfeld concerns their son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Darryl Schoenfeld who returned home last Sunday evening from Bassett.

While in Bassett, Mr. and Mrs. Schoenfeld were the guests of former college friends.

PARK MANOR

On Saturday, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Hunter and their children, Darryl and Brian, will leave for Colorado Springs, Colo. They will be accompanied on their short trip by Mrs. Hunter's father, Arthur Burkholder, and the family will be the guests of Mrs. Hunter's brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. L. W. Ashton.

The incentive for the trip will be two weddings in the Ashton family. On Sunday, Aug. 25, Mr. and Mrs. Ashton's daughter, Carolyn, will become the bride of James Bean of Colorado Springs, and the following Tuesday, Aug. 27, the wedding of the Ashtons' son, Bill, and Miss Judy Peterson will take place.

Guests who will be arriving this weekend at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Roger Charles will be Mrs. Charles' brother and sister-in-law and their son and daughter and families, Mr. and Mrs. William L. Dalton of Washington, D.C.; Mr. and Mrs. William L. Dalton, Jr., and Diane and Bobby of Blackwood, N.J.; and Mr. and Mrs. James McGlathery and Michael of Arlington, Va.

The three families will be the house guests of Mrs. Charles' mother, Mrs. Hugh Dalton and also will be visiting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Charles.

We have another very popular bride-elect in the Park Manor area this week — Miss Sandy Adams, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph V. Adams, who was honored last night at the home of Mrs. Dale Fagot.

A personal shower was presented to the honoree by neighborhood residents Mrs. Merle McDonald, Mrs. Alan Knox, Mrs. Ebert Kruger, Susan Kruger, Mrs. John Conway, Mrs. Tom Whitcomb, Mrs. Jerry Gruhn and Mrs. Norm Lawson.

Miss Adams was an honoree last week when 19 children in the neighborhood honored their former babysitter with a surprise kitchen gadget shower at the home of Mrs. Alan Knox.

Fashions To Open Club Year

There have been no summer doldrums for the members of the Mrs. JayCees who have been coping with ringing telephones and long, long lists of names and notes in recent weeks.

The cryptic notes, incidentally, are a good clue to the organization's August activities and include such topics as "football," "family picnic," "foster children," and "fashion."

And "fashion" is the concern right now of the committee members pictured who are responsible for the September style show which will open a new year of activities for the Mrs. JayCees, and which will benefit the group's state-wide project, aid to foster children.

Mrs. John F. Zimmer, III, Mrs. Clayton L. Struthers and Mrs. Richard Dassenbrock, who met Wednesday evening at the home of Mrs. Struthers, show chairman.

"Family picnic," of course, refers to the recent mid-summer gathering of the Mrs. JayCees and their families, and the note "football," is a reminder of Saturday, Aug. 24, when members of the group and their husbands will go to Omaha by chartered bus to attend the exhibition game between the St. Louis Cardinals and the Detroit Lions. The evening plans also include a picnic at Peony Park.

Mrs. Don Weller, president of the Mrs. JayCees, had announced the organization's first meeting of the fall will be held Sept. 11, and committee chairmen for the group's various projects and interest groups are busy with plans for the new season. The chairmen include: state director, Mrs. George Hock; state project chairman, Mrs. Struthers; visitation, Mrs. Rod Van DeBurg; bridge groups, Mrs. Arlen Beam; sewing and crafts group, Mrs. Don Whitney; bowling group, Mrs. Myron Roberts; and welfare, Mrs. DuPont. Recently appointed to the board of directors were Mrs. Ron Horstman and Mrs. Arthur Knox, and other officers of the group are Mrs. Jim Miller, vice president; Mrs. Zimmer, secretary; and Mrs. Mike Geis, treasurer.

Winter Bride-Elect

Announcement has been made of the engagement of Miss Mary Patricia Pagano, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Stephen C. Pagano of Staten Island, N.Y., and granddaughter of Mrs. Margaret Marcell of Lincoln, to David D'Agostino, son of Dr. and Mrs. Joseph V. D'Agostino of Staten Island.

The wedding will take place on Dec. 29.

The bride-elect, who formerly resided in Lincoln, is a graduate of Staten Island Academy and is a senior in social studies at Wagner College, Staten Island. Also an alumnus of Staten Island Academy and Wagner College, Mr. D'Agostino received his Masters degree in Fine Arts at New York University and is a member of the faculty of the Lakewood, N.J., High School.

Four Seasons Club Plans Debut

A week from Saturday night—Aug. 31, to be exact —has been chosen for the formal debut of Lincoln's newest dancing club, The Four Seasons, which will bid a hearty farewell to summer and a great big welcome to what appears to be a socially busy year.

As its name implies, the club plans four formal dinner-dances during the year, and if the decorative theme for its first party is any indication, the new group will have a gala year. Although the party theme still is a dark secret, we understand the invitations are in the form of large pink and blue storks.

Members of the club's organizing committee — who will serve as hosts and hostesses for the debut party — are (from the left) Mr. and Mrs. Richard Pocras (seated at the piano), secretaries; Mr. and Mrs. Louis Orloff (standing), co-treasurers; Mrs. Alfred Berman and Mr. Berman, co-presidents; and Mr. and Mrs. Joe Rosenberg, vice presidents.

Bridal Courtesies

The series of pre-nuptial courtesies has begun for autumn bride-elect, Miss Suzanne Jane Christoffersen, whose betrothal to Robert Charles Harman of Los Angeles, was announced earlier this summer.

Honoring Miss Christoffersen on Thursday were Mrs. Kenneth Borrett, Mrs. Cedric Yoder, Mrs. Bernard Anderson and Mrs. Victor Sloan who were hostesses at luncheon at the University Club. Twenty-four guests were invited, and following the luncheon, a miscellaneous shower was presented to the bride-to-be.

On Saturday, Miss Christoffersen will be the guest of honor at a luncheon and potery shower for which Mrs. Charles Anderson and Mrs. Loren Nelson will be co-hostesses at the home of Mrs. Anderson.

Also in courtesy to the bride-elect will be the coffee to be given next Tuesday by Mrs. Robert Lane and Mrs. James Pittenger at Hillcrest Country Club. Twenty guests have been invited and will present a kitchen shower to Miss Christoffersen, who is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gerald L. Christoffersen.

This week also has been filled with courtesies honoring Miss Maxine Davis, whose marriage to Capt. Robert F. Duffek of the Lincoln Air Force Base will be an event of Sept. 6.

Entertaining for Miss Davis this evening will be Mrs. Ted Kossack and Miss Jerrie Bell who will be hostesses at a personal shower at the home of Miss Bell.

On Sunday, Mrs. Kenneth Wagner, Mrs. Richard Wagner and Mrs. Rueben Wagner will honor Miss Davis at a kitchen shower.

Dear Abby Tell No One But Your Parents

Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: Regarding the letter from "MOTHER OF FIVE" who took you to task for calling a woman with a prefabricated family a "mother in the highest form": She asks, "What does a woman who has adopted four children know about the joy of first learning that she is to bear a child? What does she know about the beauty of carrying a child under her heart? What does she know about the thrill of hearing a child's first cry?" I would like to answer her, Abby.

I have known the joy of first learning that I was to bear child five times, only to lose them all near the end of my time. I even had the thrill once of hearing my child's first cry, only to be told three hours later that I had lost her, too. But I did experience the fulfillment of motherhood because, thanks to an adoption agency, we were "blessed" with three healthy, beautiful, well-mannered, well-adjusted and loving children. We could not love them more if they had been born to us.

Please Call Me "Mother" DEAR "MOTHER": To the adoption agency goes the credit for "blessing" you with healthy, beautiful children. But they became well-adjusted, well-mannered and loving because of you.

DEAR ABBY: I am a boy who is going to be 15 soon. I have a boy friend my age. One day I went over to his house when he was home alone. He told me to walk in, so of course I did. He shocked me. He was all dressed up in his MOTHER'S clothes. He said, "Take a look at me." Then he said it was "fun," and I should get dressed up in ladies' clothes, too. I said, "Drop dead if that's all you have to do in your spare time. I will see you later." I walked out of the house. I am wondering now—is he sick? What should I do about it? I'm sure his parents don't know. I am all shook up over it.

SHOOK UP DEAR SHOOK: Tell your parents—but no one else. The boy apparently is "sick."

DEAR ABBY: What do you think of a person who goes into someone else's home and says, "My, it's COLD in here!" Or, "My it's HOT in here!" I was taught that the temperature in one's home should not be criticized because it suits the people who are living there. If a guest comes into a home, shouldn't she forget about her own comfort and keep quiet if the temperature is not to her liking? I'd appreciate seeing this in the paper. Thank you.

INSULTED DEAR INSULTED: Personally, I would rather forego my own "comfort" and please my guests. I see nothing wrong with a guest commenting on the temperature of a room. It makes more sense than shivering in silence, or attempting to fan oneself with a limp handkerchief.

Tell your troubles to Abby. For a personal, unpublished reply, please send a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Strongest Force In Fashion Is America' Says Designer

There are two magic words in the world of fashion — Adele Simpson. These two words, of course, form the name of one of the nation's outstanding designers. But to count thousands of women these words are just a name — a label — or an exquisite and expensive costume. It is unfortunate that all women can not know Adele Simpson. She is petite (four feet 11 inches), quiet and altogether charming. She also is what the American fashion world terms 'a ball of fire.' She is not a supervisor — she is a workman, and easily could be considered an inspiration to any woman in any career. She has talent, vision and ambition — three requisites for a success story regardless of the chosen field.

This great designer, who was in Lincoln yesterday, and her husband, New York financier Wesley Simpson, live in their Manhattan town house during the week, but spend their weekends at their Connecticut home. During these brief periods of leisure they often are joined by their son, Jeffrey who, by the way, has been a member of the firm for the past four years, and who preceded his mother to Lincoln. Other weekend guests are Mr. and Mrs. Richard Raines — the Simpsons' son-in-law and daughter.

A designer was not just something Mrs. Simpson decided to be when she grew up — She was so interested and delighted with dressmaking as a little girl that when she was old enough her parents packed the tiny Adele — and her thimble — off to Pratt Institute of Design where she specialized in fashion creating. The rest of the story everyone knows. What makes a good designer?

"A full life," says Mrs. Simpson. Merely to create a dress with a daring silhouette means nothing unless it is designed to meet a vital need.

Her yardstick? "Young, pretty and purposeful," is Mrs. Simpson's answer to what clothes should be. "To do a good job the designer must continually visualize the activities of the women who wear her costumes — the kind of life that women will be leading during every season of the year."

One good reason to wear a hat this season is the new debonair's suede hat — so right with fall clothes. It makes a wonderful accent with tweeds, and is a smart texture contrast with solid wools.

Mist for an immediate fashion tonic, or choose one in a bright shade like Cranberry, Winter Blue or Pimento to add zest to your life in the months to come. Illustrated are two little suede shapes — both with a simple understated air just right for your early fall suits. One turns its brim down at front, the other rolls back to show your brow and hair in schoolgirl style.

Why Grow Old?

Questions, Answers

Josephine Lowman

Here are the answers to some questions which keep coming across my desk. Many women want to know what to do about large veins in the hands. I am sorry that I cannot be more encouraging but this is usually an inherited characteristic. However there are some beneficial measures.

Do not wear sleeves that are tight at the elbows when you bend your arms. Exercise may be helpful since it improves circulation. Do not put your hands in hot water any more often than necessary. Whenever possible to do so without looking ridiculous, hold your hands up with the fingertips toward the ceiling. You can do this quite often without notice. There is no need to let your hands rest in your lap or hang down at your sides.

Those little red capillaries in the thighs bother many women. These may be due to wearing clothing which is too tight. They can be removed by a dermatologist but the result is only temporary and if you have many it is quite a job. If you have a few, don't let them trouble you. You can hide these with waterproof makeup. Once a pink or red nose was thought to result from a liberal intake of alcohol. Skin specialists warned those who had acne rosacea to stay away from alcohol, tea, coffee, chocolate, highly seasoned foods and hot foods. That conception is old fashioned today. Many people who never take a drink have a red nose. This should not be a problem today since liquid powders can completely blank out the redness. These little capillaries can be removed by a skin specialist. Here too, the result is temporary, but periodic removal is desirable.

Q. "Is there any way to make eyebrows grow? Mine are even getting thin."

A. Sometimes thinning eyebrows are due to a general physical condition. For instance, a thyroid deficiency sometimes causes this. I do not know any way to make the eyebrows grow except to remedy any deficiency in health or diet. Sometimes women have a little case of dandruff in the brows. It may be so slight as to be unnoticed, but it could lead to thinning of the brows. I do think it is a good idea to keep the brows pasted with eyebrow pencil day and night.

TEST YOUR PLAY

1. You are declarer with the West hand at Four Spades. North leads the queen of diamonds. How would you play the hand?

 ♠ A Q 10 7 4 2 ♥ K 9 5 ♦ K 6 ♣ J 3 	 N W E S 	 ♠ K J 9 8 ♥ 8 7 2 ♦ A 5 8 ♣ A Q 10

2. You are declarer with the West hand at Six Clubs. North leads the queen of diamonds. How would you play the hand?

 ♠ A ♥ A J 9 ♦ A K ♣ A K Q J 8 6 2 	 N W E S 	 ♠ J 10 9 4 ♥ 8 5 2 ♦ 7 6 3 ♣ 10 9 7

1. The aim is to play the hand in the safest way possible and not rely on luck any more than is necessary. Of course, you could win the diamond, draw trumps, and lead the jack of clubs and finesse. If South took the king, you would still have a chance of making the contract on a heart shift—provided South had the ace of hearts. But you would probably go down if North showed up with the ace of hearts.

However, there is a safer way of playing the hand that is almost foolproof. It overcomes those hands where South has the king of clubs and North the ace of spades. Duck the first diamond! Let's assume that West continues with a diamond. Take the king, draw trumps, cash the ace of clubs and ace of diamonds, discarding the jack of clubs, and then lead the queen of clubs.

If South covers with the king, you ruff and now have your tenth trick in the form of the ten of clubs. If South plays low on the queen of clubs, you discard a heart and once more are assured of ten tricks.

2. It would be wrong to try to avoid the loss of two heart tricks by finessing in that suit. The odds would strongly favor losing two heart tricks with this method of play.

There is a far better chance of making the contract by establishing an extra trick in spades. Win the diamond, cash the ace of spades, and enter dummy with a trump. Play the jack of spades and discard a heart if South follows low.

Take the heart or diamond return, play a trump to dummy and lead the ten of spades, discarding the jack of hearts if South follows low. This method of play will succeed if South was dealt the king or queen of spades. Of course, if South covers either the first or second spade lead from dummy you ruff high. The probability of making the slam with this line of play is approximately 3 to 1.

Villa Marie Set Up For Retarded Children

Establishment of a home and school for educable mentally retarded children at the Marian Center 3 miles north-east of Lincoln was announced Thursday by Bishop James V. Casey.

Villa Marie will be the school's name, said the bishop, head of the Roman Catholic Diocese of Lincoln.

Named director of the school was Father James D. Dawson, diocesan superintendent of schools. The diocese's Marian Sisters will teach and care for the children attending Villa Marie. It will occupy one of 3 buildings nearing completion at the Marian Center. The other two contain the Good Counsel Retreat House and the Marian Sisters Motherhouse.

Boarding Day Students Villa Marie will accommodate 24 boarding students. Lincoln-area day students will also be part of the program. The school will ultimately educate children between 7 and 16, although applications for the first year will be taken only for children between 7 and 9. Bishop Casey emphasized that opening of Villa Marie and closing of St. Thomas Orphanage "does not in any way suspend the obligation of the Diocese of Lincoln to care for homeless children. It merely signals a change in the type of child care from institutional care to a foster-home program."

The diocese, the bishop added, now "has charge of some 30 orphaned, neglected and abandoned children in foster homes which are more in keeping with the needs of these little ones."

New Apostolate

He explained: "The new apostolate for the retarded child is an extension of service to children who are in need of special aid. In this new program, more needy children will benefit."

Every Season Is Cake Season

It's a smidgen of red food coloring that gives this cake its name. The addition of strong, black coffee is for that distinctive old-fashioned flavor so enjoyed by devil cake fans.

Any butter frosting goes with this cake, but Easy Caramel Frosting is an exceptionally good choice. Made creamy smooth and lustrous by evaporated milk, its caramel flavor combines ideally with chocolate.

RED DEVILS FOOD CAKE WITH EASY CARAMEL FROSTING

Loaf pan, Preheated 350 oven 13x9x2-inch
 1/2 cup (1 stick) butter
 1 1/2 cups sugar
 2 eggs
 1 teaspoon vanilla
 1/4 cup cocoa
 3 tablespoons hot coffee
 1 teaspoon red food coloring

2 cups sifted cake flour
 1 teaspoon salt
 1 teaspoon baking soda
 1 cup buttermilk

Butter and lightly flour loaf pan, set aside. Cream butter with sugar, eggs and vanilla until fluffy. Mix cocoa, hot coffee and food coloring to smooth paste. Add cocoa mixture to creamed mixture. Sift dry ingredients together; add alternately with buttermilk. Pour into prepared pan; bake 35-40 minutes. Cool and frost with Easy Caramel Frosting. If desired, decorate with pecan halves.

EASY CARAMEL FROSTING

1/4 cup (1/2 stick) butter
 1/4 cup firmly packed light brown sugar
 1/4 cup evaporated milk
 2 1/2 cups confectioners sugar
 1 teaspoon vanilla
 In saucepan, melt butter;

add sugar and milk. Heat until sugar dissolved; cool slightly. Beat in confectioners sugar and vanilla.

FRESH ORANGE, DATE AND NUT CAKE

1 medium-large orange
 1 cup pitted dried dates
 1-3 cup pecans
 1 teaspoon soda
 1 teaspoon salt
 1/2 teaspoon ground nutmeg
 1/2 cup shortening
 1 cup sugar

2 eggs
 2 cups sifted all-purpose flour
 1/4 cup milk
 1-3 cup sugar
 1/2 teaspoon ground cinnamon
 1/4 cup chopped pecans
 Squeeze juice from orange and reserve it for later use. Put orange rind, pulp, dates and pecans through a food blade. Blend together the next 5 ingredients. Beat in one egg at a time. Add flour alternately with milk. Stir in chopped orange-date mixture. Turn into a well-greased, lightly floured 8 x 8 x 2 1/2-inch pan. Bake in a preheated moderate oven (350 degrees) 1 hour and 15 minutes or until a cake tester inserted in the center comes out clean. Spoon 1-3 cup of the orange juice over cake while warm. Mix the 1-3 cup sugar with cinnamon and pecans. Sprinkle over cake. Cool before cutting.

 YIELD: One 8-inch square cake.

Cole-Slaw Flatters Roast Beef

A farewell to the summer yard party becomes a gay affair when there is a bounty of roast beef on the carving board. The beef will be tender to be sure because it is the Manhattan Oven Roast. Let the family and guests make their own roast beef sandwiches topped off with a coleslaw made with new cabbage dressed with a mustard whipped cream combination.

WHIPPED CREAM-MUSTARD COLESLAW
 Yield: 4 to 6 servings
 Combine 2 cups shredded cabbage, 2 tablespoons wine vinegar, 2 tablespoons salad oil, 1 teaspoon salt, 1 teaspoon sugar, and 1/4 teaspoon celery seed. Refrigerate for 1 hour. Fold 1 teaspoon prepared mustard into 1/2 cup whipping cream, whipped, and combine with coleslaw. Serve with Manhattan Oven Roast.

As Easy As It Is Delectable

Here is a freezer pie sure to please people who love easy summer living and wonderful eating. Both are built into Ambrosia Parfait Pie.

The easy living starts with the crust, rich as butter cookies and no trouble at all to make. You don't even roll it out—just pat into the piepan and bake.

Perhaps the best thing about this filling, though, is the fact that the flavor changes at whim—the Parfait Pie idea is translatable into everyone's favorite combination. Bake at 375° for 12 to 15 minutes. Makes 9-inch pie.

BUTTER-CRUST:

1/2 cup butter
 2 tablespoons sugar
 1 cup all-purpose flour
AMBROSIA FILLING:
 1/2 cup sugar
 1/4 cup orange juice
 1 unbeaten egg white
 1 teaspoon lemon juice
 1 cup whipping cream
 1/2 cup flaked coconut
 1/2 cup (8 1/2-oz. can) crushed pineapple, drained
 2 teaspoons grated orange rind

BUTTER-CRUST: Soften butter with sugar. Add flour. Mix just until a dough will form (with mixer use lowest speed). Place 1/4 to 1/2 cup of mixture in a small pan for crumb topping. Press remaining mixture evenly over bottom and sides of 9-inch piepan with well-floured fingers.

Bake at 375° until light golden brown: crumbs 10 to 12 minutes; crust 12 to 15 minutes. Cool.

AMBROSIA FILLING: Combine in small mixing bowl sugar, orange juice, egg white and lemon juice. Beat with electric mixer at highest speed until soft peaks form when beaters are raised, 3 to 5 minutes.

Beat cream until thick. Fold into egg white mixture. Fold in coconut, pineapple and orange rind. Spoon into baked crust. Sprinkle with reserved crumbs. Freeze until firm, 4 to 6 hours; cover.

Vitamin A--With Spice

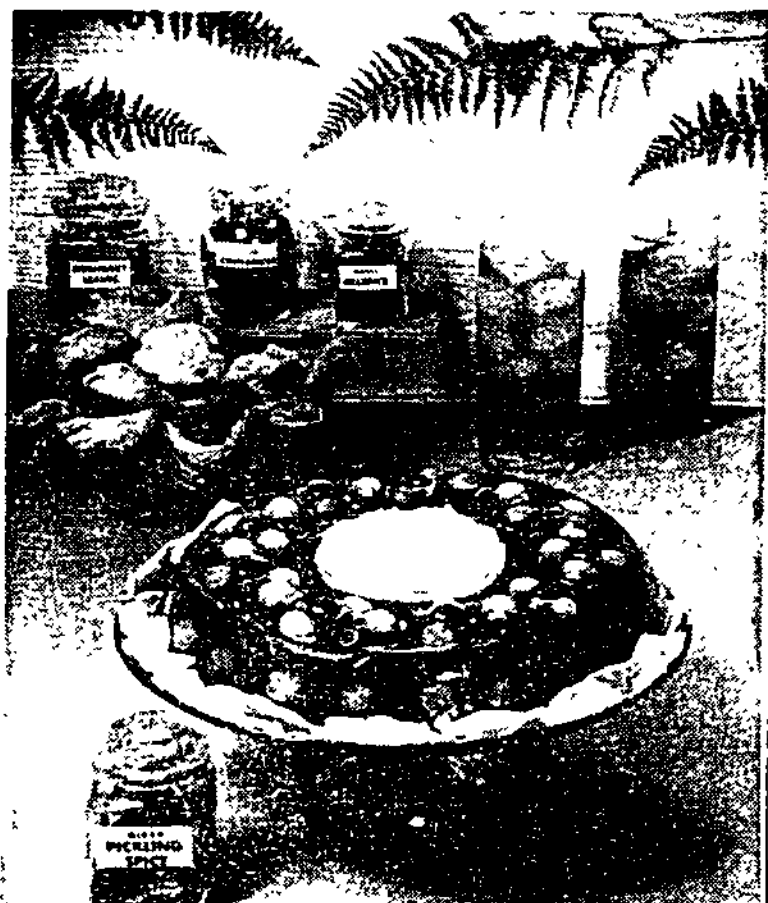

Here's a way to get your Vitamin A in a spicy fashion. Try it.

SPICED FRESH CARROTS

10 large or 20 small carrots
 1/2-inch boiling water
 1 teaspoon salt
 1 tablespoon sugar
 1/4 teaspoon ground cloves
 3 tablespoons butter or margarine
 Wash, peel and cut carrots into quarters. Place in a saucepan with 1/2-inch boiling water and the 1 teaspoon salt. Cover and cook 25 minutes or until carrots are tender. Drain, if necessary. Shake pan over low heat to dry carrots. Chop fine. Mix sugar and cloves and add to carrots. Mix well. Turn into a 9-inch pie plate. Dot with butter or margarine. Place in a preheated moderate oven (350 F.) 30 minutes or until not. Serve piping hot.

 YIELD: 6 servings.

A New Salad Flavor

Used delicately, in amounts as given in the recipes which follow, mixed pickling spices enhance, very subtly, the fruit and vegetable flavor. There is no hint of an actual pickled taste; just a drifting redolence which makes you realize that mixed pickling spice has all kinds of possibilities in year-round cookery.

In making the Molded Spiced Fruit Salad, the juice from the canned cherries is simmered with the pickling spice for about 3 minutes, then strained. It's as easy as that! This is a most attractive company salad, yet one which is neither expensive nor complicated. Best of all, it can be made well in advance.

When using mixed pickling spices, bear in mind that the flavor and aroma of these whole spices are released by heat and moisture; that, unlike ground spices, they do need a period of cooking. How long depends on the quantity used and the intensity of flavor desired.

MOLDED SPICED FRUIT SALAD

1 envelope unflavored gelatin
 1/4 cup water

1 1/4 cups canned pineapple juice
 1 tablespoon mixed pickling spice
 1/4 cup sugar
 2 tablespoons lemon juice
 1 cup green seedless grapes
 1 cup fresh blueberries
 Salad greens
 1/2 cup mayonnaise
 1/2 cup heavy cream, whipped

Soften gelatine in water. Set aside. Place pineapple juice and pickling spice in a saucepan. Bring to boiling point, cover and cook 3 minutes. Strain out spices and pour over softened gelatine. Add sugar and lemon juice. Chill until mixture begins to thicken. Fold in grapes and blueberries. Turn into an oiled 1-quart mold. Chill until firm and ready to serve. Just before serving, unmold onto a serving plate. Garnish with salad greens. Fold mayonnaise into whipped cream and serve on salad.

YIELD: 6 to 8 servings.

MINTED SPICED FRUIT SALAD MOLD

1 envelope unflavored gelatin
 1/4 cup water
 2 1/4 cups mixed pineapple and grapefruit juice
 2 teaspoons mixed pickling spice
 1 teaspoon mint flakes
 1 tablespoon sugar
 1 tablespoon cider vinegar
 1 cup pineapple tidbits, drained
 1 cup sliced canned peaches, drained
 1/4 cup sliced maraschino cherries, optional
 Mayonnaise

Soften gelatine in water. Combine fruit juice, spice, mint flakes, sugar and vinegar in a saucepan. Boil 2 minutes. Strain out spices and pour over softened gelatine. Chill until mixture begins to thicken. Fold in fruit. Turn into a lightly oiled 1-quart mold. Chill until firm and ready to serve. Just before serving turn out onto a serving plate. Garnish with salad greens. Serve with mayonnaise.

YIELD: 8 servings.

A Quickie

Generously spread 4 slices raisinbread with 2 tablespoons soft butter mixed with 1-3 cup powdered sugar and 1/2 teaspoon rum extract. Broil until mixture becomes bubbly on top. Serve at once for a delicious treat.

Southern Sandwich

Something out of the ordinary in sandwiches, this hot and hearty treat reveals meaty slices of cooked ham perched upon corn bread squares and topped with a mushroom-green pea sauce.

The corn bread you'll prepare with ease from a handy packaged mix, and the sauce is ready in a jiffy, thanks to a can of condensed mushroom soup.

SOUTHERN HAM SANDWICH

8 slices cooked ham
 1 can (10 1/2 ounces) condensed mushroom soup
 1/4 cup milk
 1/4 teaspoon onion juice or onion powder
 1/4 cup cooked peas
 4 corn bread squares (about 4x4 inches), split in half

Warm ham slices. Mix together mushroom soup, milk and onion juice or onion powder. Add peas and heat thoroughly. Top each corn bread square half with a slice of ham. Spoon mushroom soup mixture over ham, allowing about 1/4 cup for each sandwich. 8 servings.

Here is a practical little game that will give you a message every day. It is a numerical puzzle designed to reveal your fortune. Count the letters in your first name. If the number of letters is 6 or more, subtract 4. If the number is less than 6, add 4. The result is your number. Start at the upper left-hand corner of the rectangle and check every one of your 26 numbers. If you find the number 1, the letter A is the first letter of your name. If you find the number 2, the letter B is the second letter of your name. If you find the number 3, the letter C is the third letter of your name. If you find the number 4, the letter D is the fourth letter of your name. If you find the number 5, the letter E is the fifth letter of your name. If you find the number 6, the letter F is the sixth letter of your name. If you find the number 7, the letter G is the seventh letter of your name. If you find the number 8, the letter H is the eighth letter of your name. If you find the number 9, the letter I is the ninth letter of your name. If you find the number 10, the letter J is the tenth letter of your name. If you find the number 11, the letter K is the eleventh letter of your name. If you find the number 12, the letter L is the twelfth letter of your name. If you find the number 13, the letter M is the thirteenth letter of your name. Rumbles Sound Among Alumni

... AT GEORGIA U

Atlanta (UPI) — A dissident group of former University of Georgia athletes served notice Thursday they were unhappy with the school's sports program and intended to do something about it.

Cliff Kimsey, a banker in Cornelia, Ga., and state director of the Georgia "G" Club, said the first step would be to confront University president Dr. O. C. Aderhold.

"We'll just lay it on the line to him on what we would like to see done and see what his thoughts are," Kimsey said in a telephone interview.

There has been past criticism of Aderhold and it has mounted in the past 48 hours since a 12-man federal court jury ruled in favor of former Georgia athletic director Wallace Butts in his libel suit against the Saturday Evening Post.

Aderhold was one of the witnesses against Butts during the 12-day trial, testifying that the former coach's character was bad.

One alumni group in Columbus, Ga., called for a housecleaning at Georgia from "top to bottom," presumably including Aderhold and head coach Johnny Griffith, the man who succeeded Butts when he became athletic director.

Atlanta Constitution sports editor Jesse Outlaw said Thursday in his column: "Georgia is a proud institution and students and alumni deserve a better deal. I'd rather see Griffith engage in intramural sports alone than to continue in the current rut."

Outlaw also said Griffith "did not have the proper experience to become a head coach in the SEC" when he took over from Butts and "it's the general opinion now."

Griffith and Aderhold have not commented on the Butts' decision, other than to say

Orioles Win; Errors Help

Baltimore (AP)—Boog Powell continued his hot batting streak and rookie pitcher Dave McNally hurled his first complete game since April 20 as the Baltimore Orioles whipped the Los Angeles Angels, 5-1, Thursday night.

Powell, who has hit .432 in the last 11 games, hit a two-run homer in the first inning after Los Angeles right fielder Ken Hunt dropped Russ Snyder's line drive for the first of five Los Angeles errors.

Los Angeles Manager Bill Rigney and coach Del Rice were ejected from the game by Umpire Larry Napp when they disputed a called strike in the eighth inning.

A's Crush Senators

Kansas City (AP)—Norm Siebern drove in three runs with a homer and single, pulling the Kansas City Athletics to a 6-2 victory over Washington Thursday night.

Ed Rakow, bringing his record 8-3, won his first game in two months with Bill Fischer's relief help.

Rakow, winning his first game since June 22, had a no-hitter until Ken Retzer doubled in the fifth. In the sixth, Jim King hit his 21st home run.

The A's hopped on Washington starter Bennie Daniels for an unearned run in the first, then scored four in the third—two on Siebern's 14th homer. The rally included singles by Wayne Causey, Manny Jimenez and Gino Cimoli.

Houston Oilman Offers Cassius $$ Challenge

... TO FIGHT 'BIG CAT'

Houston (AP)—K. S. (Bud) Adams, Houston oilman who owns the Houston football Oilers and dabbles in fights, penned a poem Thursday.

"Gaseous Cassius Clay, do you want this big pay? All of Texas is awaiting the day when 'Big Cat' Williams pounces on 'Big Mouth' Clay."

He also had a wheel barrow filled with crisp $100 dollar bills. There was $180,000.

Adams is no Walt Whitman but his poem with the big stack of cash got the point across.

Adams said it was to show Cassius Clay, the Louisville lip, he and fellow oilman Hugh Benbow, who co-manages Cleveland Williams, meant business.

The $180,000 isn't being offered in any lump sum. Clay will have to earn most of it—and Adams and Benbow are confident he won't make much of a dent in the bundle.

Adams and Benbow wired Clay and his backers earlier

Gunderson Wins Semifinal Berth In Gals Amateur

Williamstown, Mass. (AP)—Three time winner and defending champion JoAnne Gunderson led the way into the semifinals of the 63rd Women's National Amateur Golf Championship Thursday, firing a birdie-laced sub-par round at Taconic Golf Club.

Miss Gunderson, the 24-year-old Kirkland, Wash., slugger now living in Providence, R.I., eliminated Mrs. Helen Sigel Wilson of Gladwyne, Pa., 5 and 4.

The other former winner, 25-year-old Mrs. Anne Quast Wells of Mount Vernon, Wash., took advantage of mistakes by bubble gum chewing Janis Ferraris, 16-year-old junior titlist from San Francisco, to post a 4 and 3 triumph.

Another 16-year-old, little Peggy Conley of Spokane, Wash., advanced with a 3-2 victory over Judy Bell of Colorado Springs, Colo., this year's Trans-Mississippi titlist.

The other winner on the 6-195-yard, par 72 layout was college girl Carol Sorenson of Janesville, Wis., who captured the final five holes in a 4 and 3 victory over Mrs. Phyllis S. Temple of Sewickley, Pa.

'Horoscope' Spotlights 4-H Models

"Find your future in the stars under the 'Fashion Horoscope'."

That was the theme for the 1963 Lancaster County Fair Dress Revue as 159 4-H purple and blue ribbon models were presented at the annual 4-H Purple Ribbon Show.

The four winners selected to represent Lancaster County at the State Fair were: Ardith Huenink of Hickman, modeling skirt and blouse; Ann Smiley of 919 Eastridge Drive, modeling school clothes unit; Barbara Noyes of 6701 South, and Jane DeBoer of Hickman, both modeling dress-up clothes.

Showmanship finals, purple ribbon song groups, a parade of winning livestock, the Purple Ribbon Share-the-Fun Act and a dog obedience demonstration highlighted with 4-H song and music groups entertained a standing-room-only crowd of more than 3,000 for the annual 4-H presentation.

Trophies to the four dress winners were presented by the Women's Division of the Chamber of Commerce. The 4-H show is sponsored annually by the Lincoln Junior Chamber of Commerce and the Lancaster County Extension Service.

The presentation of the models and the clubs they represented was made by the dress revue superintendents, Mrs. Dale Harlan and Mrs. Eugene Huenink, both of Hickman. Master of ceremonies for the show was Don Kuhn of the Lincoln Jaycees.

RACIAL RELATIONS, MONEY HIGHLIGHT LUTHERAN MEET

Seward (UPI)—Race relations and money highlighted the closing session of a Lutheran meeting in Seward Thursday.

Delegates representing 150 Lutheran churches in the Northern Nebraska district of the Lutheran Church-Missouri Synod, resolved to urge their church people to work toward the elimination of discrimination and social injustices in housing, employment and education.

Stressing the needs for Christians to use their money wisely for church purposes, The Rev. Eugene Vetter of Battle Creek told the convention "only six dollars will feed a family halfway across the world for a month."

The 37-member district proceeded to adopt a work program for 1964 costing over one-million dollars.

Earlier the convention resolved to step up its efforts in the establishment of new parochial schools and in the education of adults.

Another resolution urged greater efforts in recruiting younger people for full time work in the church. "Our membership is growing more rapidly than the needed workers can be obtained," the resolution said.

Wagner Orders End To Sit-Ins At City Hall

New York (AP)—Mayor Robert F. Wagner Thursday ordered an end to an around-the-clock 6-week-old sit-in at City Hall after the city's first racial melee in three weeks broke out on the steps of City Hall.

A noisy group of about 50 demonstrators protesting alleged job discrimination fought with police. Three policemen suffered minor injuries in banishing six sit-in demonstrators from inside the hall, Wagner said.

"Overzealous conduct has turned into outright provocation on a consistent basis. Regular and prolonged outbursts of shouting, chanting and littering were aimed at getting regular press attention."

"Intolerable Limits"

"The interference with the functioning of the mayor's office, the Board of Estimate and even the City Council had, in any event, reached intolerable limits. Today's incident marked a climax . . ."

The half dozen sit-in demonstrators left quietly.

In the fighting outside City Hall, nine pickets were arrested, some squirming and protesting as they were carried to police vans.

The clash occurred when a dozen pickets tried to chain themselves to a pillar to dramatize their demands for more jobs for Negroes on publicly-financed construction projects. As they were being cut free, other pickets charged up City Hall steps and fell on police with fists and knees.

Move On

Plainclothesmen and uniformed patrolmen gradually forced the angry group down the steps and into Park Row, behind City Hall. There some of the demonstrators sat in the street, blocking traffic. But they moved on as mounted policemen approached, and eventually dispersed.

Democratic Mayor Robert F. Wagner had left City Hall before the disturbance began. Earlier, when he arrived, pickets shouted at him, "Stay home."

The reference was to Wagner's announced plan to take part in the Aug. 28 march on Washington in behalf of Negro rights. One demonstrator cried:

"Will he dare to leave this city in six days without cleaning up the mess here?"

One Near Riot

Widespread demonstrations for more construction jobs for Negroes began in New York July 10. They provoked a number of clashes between pickets and police and, on one occasion in Brooklyn, a near riot.

Negro clergymen who led these demonstrations reached a truce with city and state officials early this month, and called off the mass picketing.

Dissident groups, led by the Congress of Racial Equality and the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, continued to demonstrate, although without mass support.

These groups for weeks have been staging sit-ins at Mayor Wagner's City Hall office.

Thursday, about 100 pickets showed up outside.

Ruhnke Opposes Special Session Debate On Power

Sen. Arnold Ruhnke of Plymouth said Thursday he feels it would be "untimely" to rehash public power problems in a special session of the Legislature.

Ruhnke, chairman of the 1963 Legislature's Public Works Committee, made the comment in reference to a statement by Sen. Harold B. Stryker of Rising City that power legislation should be included in a special session call.

"I think we should give the new Power Review Board a chance to work in this area before the Legislature steps into the picture again," Ruhnke said.

Stryker said he would like to have the senators reconsider the generation and transmission problem.

Several attempts to solve this problem in the last session fell short.

CAPE FLAPPING, CHURCH PRINCE PEDDLES FAST

Montreal (AP)—Cape flapping in the wind, Paul-Emile Cardinal Leger went bicycle riding on St. Helen's Island.

The Roman Catholic archbishop of Montreal gave two bikes a test run Wednesday at the annual playground picnic of the Montreal Parks Department.

Some 12,000 were on hand and the sight of the cardinal peddling furiously, head bent forward over the handle bars, drew cheers.

Some concerned adults ran along behind him but the cardinal outdistanced them. The 58-year-old cardinal said it was the first bicycle ride he has had in 35 years.

PRINCE EDWARD COUNTY REGISTRATION CONTINUES

Farmville, Va. (AP)—Registration for the first free school year in the schools in Prince Edward County in four years continued here Thursday in the wake of the largest civil rights demonstration yet staged in the town. Approximately 500 Negroes and about 20 white persons left a Wednesday night meeting to explain the free school system and staged an orderly demonstration outside the county courthouse.

Police looked on as the demonstrators sang a freedom song and listened to a lengthy prayer recited from the courthouse steps. Then the demonstrators went quietly back to the First Baptist church, where the free schools meeting had been held.

Darden, who is a former president of the University of Virginia, declined to specify the foundations he contacted in New York because "they're a little shy about publicity at this point." It was believed, however, that the Ford, Rockefeller and Carnegie Foundations were among those he visited.

The former governor said "we could not get specific on needs and commitments until such time as we have a firmer knowledge of enrollment."

1,600 Pupils Seen
Trustees of the free school system, headed by former Gov. Colgate W. Darden Jr., expect about 1,600 children to be on hand when classes open in three now-unused public school buildings Sept. 16. Registration figures neared the 1,000 mark during the first three days.
The trustees have estimated it will take about $1 million to operate the free schools for a year. Darden, who spent two days in New York this week seeking funds, said he was confident the money would be raised.

Breakfast beside the tropical blue sea. The coco palms sigh softly in the trade wind. The pineapple is fresh as sweet sixteen. The Puerto Rico coffee is black (and pleasant) as sin.

For some dietary or watery reason, our teeth clean themselves voluntarily here. It's like coming fresh from the dentist — strangest thing I've ever seen.

Naturally, this luxury life (with built-in teeth cleaning) is not free.

However, from May to mid-November, hotels are half to two-thirds price.

For a luxurious room for two with the finest meals, $42 per day. In more modest surroundings, you can do it for $15.

The most elegant of the hotels is Dorado Beach. It was built by Laurance Rockefeller who is kind of a rich man's Hilton.

Rockefeller built and gave away most of Grand Teton National Park.

He bought and enlarged and runs Good Hope Estate on St. Croix.

He gave 5000 acres to establish the Virgin Islands National Park on St. John. He subsidizes the Jackson Hole Preserve Corporation which in turn owns Caneel Bay Plantation on the same island.

He is building on one of the British Virgin islands — a new resort.

And he is dickering around with a huge project on the Big Island in Hawaii.

It is a rather curious set of endeavors and not much is put out about Rockefeller by his press agents. Some places he builds are supposed to make a profit. Some he builds and gives to the government.

Hilton, whose profit motives are clear as plate glass in his hotels, started his overseas chain here. He built the Caribe Hilton. Trader Vic, the old maestro of rum and won ton, put in a South Seas dining room.

Hilton has just bought the Dorado Hilton and is opening another Hilton at the island beach town of Mayaguez.

Intercontinental has built a luxury hill resort at Ponce.

All over Puerto Rico, the tycoons are betting on this tropical island, 100 miles long and 35 miles wide.

Rockefeller built a semi-circle of cottage-type houses along a semi-circle of white sand and coco palm beach.

He brought in Robert Trent Jones to design a golf course with 27 barbed holes. (The coconuts are plucked — by coconut pluckers I guess — before they ripen and conk a million-dollar noggin.)

G. Bland Hoke runs this scatter. He said: "We do not want to be known as just a millionaire resort. For $42 a day, a lot of couples can come here in the off-season."

"What we would like is for people on the U.S. mainland to think of us as an all-year-round resort."

To back this idea, the island tourist bureau has put out a great many facts and figures.

Puerto Rico in the winter — (rates go up from $42 to $65 a day) — is only 5 to 10 degrees cooler than it is now. San Juan today is 86 degrees.

Air-conditioning is widespread. If everybody opened their windows at once, it would ice every coconut on Puerto Rico. Throw in a little rum — instant daiquiris.

All major hotels have gambling casinos. Hometown operation. No syndicates they say.

It is so culturally pure that the government keeps an inspector in each casino. They weigh the dice and see that nobody gaffs the roulette wheel.

Hotels cannot advertise this gaming fact to the outside world. Not even that they have casinos.

There are also some 50 sin-fu places in Old San Juan. The police clean them up from time to time. Off-season.

It's a lively place. Off-season.

State Asks For O'Kelly Affirmation

The state filed a brief with the Nebraska Supreme Court Thursday requesting affirmation of a district court jury's second-degree murder conviction of a Lincoln man.

A Lancaster County District Court jury found Dennis O'Kelly, 21, guilty of the Aug. 4, 1962, slaying of his girl friend, Barbara Eastman of Lincoln. He was sentenced to life in the State Penitentiary.

O'Kelly pleaded innocent to the charge.

Miss Eastman was beaten to death and her body discovered in Oak Lake near Lincoln, according to evidence presented at O'Kelly's trial.

O'Kelly contends Lincoln police had no authority to arrest him without a warrant, under any circumstances.

But, Atty. Gen. Clarence Meyer, in the state's brief, claims a police officer may arrest without a warrant when it appears that a crime has been committed and there is reasonable ground to believe the person arrested is guilty of the offense.

O'Kelly also contends the district court erred in overruling a motion to strike both written and oral confessions by him to police and used as evidence in the trial.

Bagg Oil Painting Is Presented To NWU By Gettys

An oil painting depicting buffalo roaming the Plains around Norton, Kansas, was presented to Nebraska Wesleyan University by Loyd B. Gettys, David City.

Gettys, a 1916 graduate of NWU, said the painting was done by Prof. Henry Howard Bagg, formerly director of the school of art at Nebraska Wesleyan.

Gettys, a numismatist at David City, recalled that his father, an 1897 NWU graduate described the scene he remembered from boyhood and Prof. Bagg painted it.

The canvas, about 2 1/2 by 5 feet, is one of many art pieces NWU is hopeful of receiving to hang in the fine arts building when it is completed, President Vance Rogers said.

The new building will eventually house the Elder Art Gallery.

Omahan Dies Of Accident Injuries

Omaha (AP)—Sam J. Grasso, 27, of Omaha, was fatally injured Thursday afternoon when pinned under a panel truck when it overturned after being in collision with a car driven by Harry M. Tyler, 74, of Villisca, Iowa.

The death raised the Nebraska traffic toll to 200 compared to 221 on Aug. 22 last year. It was the 19th traffic fatality of the year in Omaha.

Stoum set bond at $3,500 for the man, Danile I. Simons of 2048 Hodge.

Simons appeared in court with his attorney, John McArthur, and waived preliminary hearing.

Police said the girl told investigating officers that she was raped when she was being taken home Wednesday night. She said the incident occurred near Griffith St. and Huntington Ave.

"Roughed Up" She told police she was bitten, held down and forcibly raped. A medical examination later revealed that she had been, in the words of the examining doctor, "roughed up pretty well."

Detective Capt. Robert Butcher said the man "evidently got carried away." Simons told police that he and his wife had been drinking beer in a tavern earlier in the evening.

According to police, the victim's mother had told Simons' wife to always bring the girl home. However, Simons drove the girl home Wednesday because his wife was "tired," police said.

Insulting Remarks The girl told police that Simons made insulting remarks and gestures to her while driving her home. She said she tried to get out of the car but that he held her in the vehicle.

He then parked about 100 feet north of the Griffith and Huntington intersection and raped her, she said.

CANINE COFFEE HOUND

Coffee smugglers at Venlo on The Netherlands' border with West Germany don't often put much over on Putti, the canine customs officer. When Putti's mood is serene, human-type customs officers can almost take it for granted there is no coffee in cars. But, when he gets excited and sounds off, they can be sure they've found another coffee smuggler. There is heavy traffic in coffee smuggling into Germany. If caught, smugglers face heavy fines.
